Lindsey Santanasto & Lindsey Santanastoâ€™s puppy

Lester Cliff

Article published on January 17th 2012 | Advertising

Lindsey Santanasto had great love for the animals and birds. She loved to spend most of her time with them. It may be due to several reasons but it was all part of her life. She was very attached with them. But she never had any one of them at home. All her room was painted with animals and birdâ€™s pictures. She was also a very good painter. She never had a chance to have any of them at her house. It was her hardhearted wish to have a dog at her home. But for some reason she wasnâ€™t able to do so.

Once she went to a trip with her college. It was an outdoor trip. She was not fond of going out. But her friends forced her to accompany them. She was feeling a bit of uncurious but sooner she started to get on with the trip. She also played a match with her friends on the trip. Lindsey Santanasto and her friends prepared lunch themselves. It was a bit of new experience to her. But she really enjoyed all that. She was quite comfortable on that particular trip.

After having the lunch, all of her friends lay down for rest. But she preferred to go out. She was walking quietly in the park. Suddenly, a puppy came out of now where. The puppy was wounded. He was in great pain. On of his leg was injured quite badly. Blood was bleeding rapidly from him. She went near to that puppy, saw him in pain and tried to help him out. She look into the leg of puppy, there was an iron nail filled in one of the legs of puppy. She removed it carefully, and covered that wounded part of the leg with a piece of clothe that she had in her purse.

Now, the puppy was feeling quite calm. Lindsey Santanasto was a very noble girl. She loved helping others. It was just another example. The puppy had no home, he was not moving from there. Lindsey Santanasto tried to push him to go back his home but he didnâ€™t. Then, she realized that the puppy was homeless. She took him and brought him in the rooms. Her friends asked her about the puppy and she told them the whole story. Her friends impressed a lot of her character.

Lindsey Santanasto was feeling very happy. Now, she had the chance to fulfill her desire. She told her friends that she will take this puppy to her home. Later in the evening, they moved back from the trip. Lindsey Santanasto also bought a beautiful red ribbon for the puppy on the way. The puppy was looking quite lovely after wearing that red ribbon. They reached home till late at night. The puppy also slept with her that night. Puppy was also very happy to have a home and Lindsey Santanasto. The puppy recovered from that wound very soon. His health was improving quite dramatically.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/advertising-articles/lindsey-santanasto-lindsey-santanasto-s-puppy.htm - Article Side

Lester Cliff - About Author:
Lindsey Santanasto and her friends prepared lunch themselves. It was a bit of new experience to her. But she really enjoyed all that.

Article Keywords:
Lindsey Santanasto, Lindsey Santanasto, Lindsey Santanasto

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!