In order for check scanners to produce consistently clean check images, they require regular preventative maintenance. With that in mind, organizations utilizing checks scanning equipment such as banks and other financial institutions are now searching for the latest check scanner cleaning solutions to ensure that, when customers require high quality scans, the equipment functions perfectly for the job at hand. As specialist suppliers of a variety of check scanners, printing equipment as well as many other high quality products, UniLink Inc. is the number one source for check scanner cleaning solutions that will keep operations running smoothly.

Since the company's founding in 1988, UniLink Inc. has become one of the leading financial services equipment to companies from a wide variety of industries across the globe. The company's reputation for exceptional knowledge and unyielding honesty is legendary, and that's why so many clients now trust their in-house equipment search to the company's team of equipment specialists. The company goes to great lengths to develop strong relationships with their customers in order to better understand their business needs. Even after the sale has been completed, the company's team will maintain contact with the customer to ensure that the product they've ordered is working to full capacity and meeting their business needs.

At UniLink Inc, customers are provided with a full selection of products for their precise requirements. For example, the company offers a large number of check scanner cleaning solutions that are designed to allow businesses to achieve flawless imaging with their check scanning equipment time-after-time.

In terms of the company's check scanning solutions, the company has business links with all the major manufacturers within the industry. Whether clients are searching for the latest product from Burroughs, Canon, Epson, Digital Check or any other top company, UniLink Inc is the ideal source. Clients may wish to take a closer look, for example, at the SmartSource Open Professional line of check scanners from industry leaders Burroughs. This exceptional solution is designed to meet customer needs in front office, back office and within merchant environments, encompassing a versatile, high-value product that eclipses all others in its class in terms of performance.

The Burroughs SmartSource Open Professional line of check scanners features a new open feeder design, which helps to reduce document preparation requirements and enables the easy loading of documents by the operator with the automatic opening of the hopper when empty. One of the leading advantages of this product is that it sets the standard for automation in the industry, as it can be configured to start feeding automatically when documents are loaded into the feeder.

For organizations that have high volumes of checks to scan, this is the requisite solution. The product is available in several different scalable styles depending on the business's needs. From models that conduct high quality scanning of 30 documents per minute, to scanners that process 120 documents per minute, this line of exquisite solutions has the requisite equipment to meet all contemporary business objectives.

For access to the industry's best equipment, including check scanners and check scanner cleaning supplies, at prices that are far below the industry standard, pick up the phone and contact UniLink Inc. today.
