Article published on March 9th 2012 | Babies

Bed time for babies can be really hard at times, especially on a camping trip. As families go to different places having varying environment and temperature during camping trips, babies' need of proper care and attention increases manifolds. In such cases, several new products, such as a baby sleep sack, can help parents ensure babiesâ€™ deep and sound sleep. These sleeping sacks for infants are extremely comfortable, warm and completely safe. Such bags are ideal for babies aged between 0-6 months as well as kids between 18-36 months.

For baby campers during the spring season, sleep sacks are made using quality material that facilitates ventilation so that the baby does not feel too warm while napping. Parents can put their babies inside a sleep sack and rest peacefully without any worries regarding their sleeping posture. Such bags are available in the market with varying TOG ratings and sleeping sacks having lower TOG rating are ideal for camping trips during spring and summer seasons.

In the older times, parents used to cover their newly born either with loose blankets or duvets or sheets to protect them while camping outdoors. They were hardly aware of the fact that covering babies with such heavy blankets or sheets can suffocate them to death during sleep. This phenomenon is known as Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS) and parents can avoid this using baby sleep sacks.

According to studies, it is essential for a baby to sleep for 16 hours a day. For the mental and physical development of a baby, it is necessary that he/she sleeps well. However, there are numerous factors which do not let it happen and disrupt babies sleep while camping. Feeling cold and chilly at night is a common reason for incomplete sleep of baby when they are outdoors. Baby sleep sack has now made it easier for parents to make their kids feel cozy and comfortable. A sleep sack guarantees a warm, comfortable and peaceful sleep for the new born on a camping trip.

People can choose sleep sack from many options available in the market. These easy-to-use sacks are available with and without sleeves as well as with and without zipper and snaps. The sleep sacks with zippers are popular amongst buyers as these are much easier to put on babies. Moreover, the baby cannot unzip themselves during the night while sleeping in such bags. These sleep sacks can be put over the childâ€™s usual nightwear. In addition to this, babies can play or move without any disturbance in the sleep sack as there is no danger of falling out of them. Plus these sacks do not get entangled in the babyâ€™s legs or arms.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/babies-articles/let-your-baby-sleep-comfortably-during-camps-in-baby-sleep-sacks.htm - Article Side

Sammy Jon - About Author:
Sammy Jon is an expert author and has more than 8 years of experience in writing articles on various topics like a baby sleep sack, Prevent SIDS and a sleep sacks etc.

Article Keywords:
baby sleep sack, sleep sacks

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!