Article published on January 25th 2012 | Food

Tea in itself is a refreshing beverage and when spices mingle with it, it becomes all the more delectable. Cinnamon is one such spice that has always found favor with the tea lovers because its smell and aroma is so very compatible with it. Boiling cinnamon and cloves with tea is a common practice in most eastern countries and the trend has now fast caught on in the western countries as well as they relish the heady experience.

It must be remembered also that these spices are not just good to taste but they also have medicinal properties that are slowly being discovered. Herbs and spices have always been known to have anti oxidants and micro nutrients and those who have had cinnamon spice tea have said that they feel refreshed throughout the day after having it. Nowadays there are many brands in the market that are bringing this cinnamon flavored tea.

The ratio of tea to cinnamon varies and you can opt for a very light aroma to a truly enticing smell. There are many variations to it as well. The tea can be made t taste different by the use of milk- tea with milk and plain liquor differs in taste. Now adding a pinch of salt and lemon with the cinnamon too makes a very refreshing drink and in the summers it can be had chilled. So with all these various combinations, new flavors and blends of cinnamon spice tea are now available in the market.

Some premium brands also make custom flavored tea and deliver them to you in exquisitely crafted gift boxes. They are simply great as presents. So with all of these, gear up to experience whole new world of cinnamon spice tea and make your day.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/food-articles/start-your-day-with-the-refreshing-taste-of-hot-cinnamon-spice-tea.htm - Article Side

James Blee - About Author:
For more information on a orange spice tea, check out the info available online; these will help you learn to find the a cinnamon spice tea!

Article Keywords:
orange spice tea,cinnamon spice tea

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!