Article published on July 12th 2012 | Advertising

When, in the early twentieth century, a number of unexplained mining deaths were found to be related to lung problems, it didnâ€™t take long to discover the toxic nature of asbestos. Previously thought reliable by builders due to its sound absorption and heat resistant properties, asbestos began to be â€“ albeit very slowly â€“ phased out of the construction industry.

When the Control of Asbestos Regulations 2006 was released, employers had to ensure that their workers likely to be exposed to the harmful agent were given all appropriate asbestos awareness training.

Specialising in asbestos awareness training, Asbestos Safety Training are a company who pride themselves on their competitive and convenient asbestos awareness training, deal for those working as building contractors, tradesmen, developers and those involved with maintenance, repair or demolition.

Lasting only half a day, the asbestos awareness training sees each Asbestos awarenesssession covering an expansive topic. During the comprehensive asbestos awareness training from Asbestos Safety Training, your employees will cover a wide range of subjects, exploring the history of asbestos, its nature and origin as well as the various types and their properties and benefits. Covering the health hazards associated with the mineral, the asbestos awareness training also covers the possible locations within a building where asbestos might be found and will provide your workforce with an in-depth knowledge of all current legislation and guidance.

Unlike other companies who provide asbestos awareness training, the asbestos awareness training from Asbestos Safety Training is available at rates starting at just Â£32 per person. Held at your premises on a venue of your choice, Asbestos Safety Training are flexible in their training and try to accommodate.

To find out more about the asbestos awareness training from Asbestos Safety Training, visit them online today and ensure that your workforce are well aware of all associated risks and procedures.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/advertising-articles/comprehensive-asbestos-awareness-training-from-asbestos-safety-training.htm - Article Side

- About Author:
a Asbestos awareness training from asbestossafetytraining.co.uk is carried out by fully skilled and seasoned specia lists who really know their stuff. This a asbestos training ensures satisfa ction every time.

Article Keywords:
Asbestos awareness, asbestos training

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!