Cure you nail with a UV lamp by Roger Lopez

Article published on April 20th 2012 | Advertising

This can only be done if you are applying gel to nails to make them stronger and to protect your new nail polish or nail tips. Different types of UV lamps for nails come in the market to use while doing your own nails with numerous unusual characteristics like timers and energy-preserving modes. You will be able to cure your own nails and save your money if you follow the correct procedure at home with a UV lamp.

Prepare your nails by removing old nail polish or other dirt on your nails. To get rid of any oils, use the fine grit emery board so that the gel would get tucked properly. If you want to use nail glue to put on nail tips then apply thin coat of gel primer coat to your nails and let them dry out entirely.

With the gel brush apply one thin coat of the gel. Without pressing down as hard start at the middle of the nail and brush it just around the corner you would brush on veritable nail polish. Always take care that the gel would get in touch with the dead skin. Use an orange stick to wipe it away if you accidentally get some on your dead skin.

Make well with the first coat by laying down your nails under the UV lamp for at least 3 minutes. Similarly, brush on the second coat of the gel like the first coating and place your nails under UV lamp and keep on repeating the same steps if you want more coating of gels on the nails.

Wide range of UV lamp available in the market

UV lamp for nails is easily available in the market these days. With the features like energy saver mode and timers, these products add to the user experience and endow the users with the great ease. The lamps and bulbs are obtainable in wide variety in the market. The wattage of the lamp must be considered before buying. Lamps with higher wattage can cure faster than that of lower wattage. The wattage can be chosen according to the requirement and thus lamps are also helpful in curing your feet. It all depends upon your intended usage. Check online for UV lamp stores and gel nails to find the ri9ght one for you. Moreover, the price varied from model to model and can be one of the factors impacting your choice.

Thus these portable kinds of lamps could be even used while traveling. Moreover, you can ask the professionals for the right place for lamps and with the best brands and nominal price.
