The Best Used Sedans in Indianapolis Under $10,000 by Leisa Dreps

Article published on March 28th 2012 | Business

Buying a used vehicle is one of the smartest decisions any car buyer can make. Buying a pre-owned car means minimizing the depreciation value, less insurance, and registration cost. If you live in Indianapolis, Indiana, then you are lucky because there is an abundance of car dealerships in that area.

Because there are several car lots in Indianapolis, this widens a car buyerâ€™s chances of getting exactly the car he wants as well as snagging the best deals. One of the most popular used vehicles is a sedan. This makes it the ideal family car because it is roomyâ€”the smallest sedan can fit four adults and their luggageâ€”and cheap. In fact, some Indianapolis car dealers sell them for less than $10,000, examples of which are listed below:

2003 Pontiac Bonneville

Dealer Price: $5,500 - The Bonneville comes equipped with 240-horse supercharged V6 engine with a luxurious design. It has a large trunk. It is large, but easy to handle. Additionally, the Pontiac Bonneville has excellent crash test scores.

1999 Buick LeSabre

Dealer Price: $5,990 - The LeSabre is one of the most reliable automobiles in the country with many experts commenting on its virtually trouble-free motoring. Indianapolis car buyers will definitely enjoy the V6 engine and the 205 horsepower. The 1999 edition is noted for making some significant improvements as far as gas emission is concerned, making it more earth-friendly.

2003 Buick Park Avenue

Dealer Price: $6,781 - As far as luxury sedans go, the Buick Park Avenue is counted by some as one of the best. At Buy Here Pay Here Indianapolis IN car lots, many car buyers look for this particular brand due to its many safety features such as passenger airbags, 4-wheel ABS brakes, dusk sensing headlights, and more. The Park Avenue has a strong V6 engine (205 horsepower) and excellent fuel economy. It also has luxurious interiors.

2004 Kia Rio

Dealer Price: $7,881 - When purchasing through schemes of Buy Here Pay Here Indianapolis dealers offer, one of the cars to look for would be the 2004 Kia Rio because it is among the cheapest. It is attractive, equipped with an engine of 104 horsepower, and provides excellent fuel economy. Lumbar support was added in the 2004 edition, which makes it more comfortable.

Please take note that the pricesâ€”as well as the availability of the sedansâ€”are subject to change. You can check out the website of car dealers in Indianapolis or visit edmunds.com to look for reviews of the cars mentioned above.
