Article Side
How to Take Care of Flowers in Mumbai by Julia Roger

Article published on March 6th 2012 | Shopping

Flower gardens are appealing and wonderful to look at. They refresh us up with their fragrances and bright colours. So how do we take care of the? The answer to this question would depend upon the location where we live. India has numerous states and all states have different climate and culture. Let us talk about Mumbai. The climate of Mumbai stays pleasant throughout the year. Therefore, it can sustain almost all kinds of flower varieties.

To start with it, always grab some knowledge about different types of flowers; all of them have different growth criteria, some can be planted too close while other cannot. You should know about the amount of water a flower might need. You can survey on the flowers that have been grown successfully in your area. Advice can be taken from botanical experts. One can go to the local nurseries that provide seeds of a variety of seasonal flowers. You can plant perennials as well as annual flowers in Mumbai.

Sunlight, water and soil are the most essential ingredients for managing oneâ€™s own flower garden. Mumbai is a place where you get to see only sky touching buildings; therefore, it becomes important to find a place in your apartment where your flowers would get proper sunlight. You can place them in the balconies or on the roof top if it is accessible to you. A plant would need regular watering and sunlight for around six hours a day.

You must bear in mind that because of land inadequacy in Mumbai, you would cultivate flowers in pots unless you own a proper garden. Carefully choose the pots according to the needs of a flower. Fertiliser or compost must be regularly used for giving proper nourishment to the soil.

You must know about the harmful as well as helpful bugs. Some insects help in decomposing the soil and therefore, they provide nourishment to the plant while other helpful insects feed on the smaller insects that could be harmful for your flowers. Check regularly for any harmful insects or disease that might destroy your plant. You can plant cactii, roses, African violets, and marigold send flowers to mumbai.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/shopping-articles/how-to-take-care-of-flowers-in-mumbai.htm - Article Side

Julia Roger - About Author:
For more information on a flowers in mumbai, check out the info available online; these will help you learn to find the a send flowers to mumbai!

Article Keywords:
flowers in mumbai,send flowers to mumbai

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!