Top Three Things to Look for in a Philadelphia Personal Injury Lawyer by Hank Aaron

Article published on June 8th 2012 | Business

Taking the time to find the right legal representation to handle your personal injury case can mean the huge difference between fair compensation and receiving only a fraction of the amount you are entitled to. Working with an experienced Philadelphia personal injury lawyer is the best way to ensure that your rights are protected and your case is justly resolved.

What to Look For in a Philadelphia Personal Injury

Personal injury law covers auto accidents, medical malpractice, catastrophic injury, and much more. When looking for someone to handle your claim, here are some things to consider:

Has the Philadelphia Personal Injury Lawyer dealt with a case similar to yours?

Youâ€™ll be best served with someone who has prior experience in handling a case similar to yours. Personal injury lawyers often focus their practices on specific types of cases. This gives them a deep knowledge in the areas on which they focus and allows them to provide superior service to their clients in that area. However, they may lack the same depth of experience in other types of personal injury cases. For instance, a Philadelphia car accident lawyer will likely have vast experience in handling auto accident cases, but may not be the best fit for handling a medical malpractice injury claim. If you are looking for legal representation for an auto injury, youâ€™ll be better served by hiring a Philadelphia car accident lawyer than a medical malpractice lawyer. In some cases, personal injury attorneys have multiple areas of focus and are quite qualified to handle a wide range of personal injury cases â€“ just donâ€™t make the mistake of assuming this to be the case.

What is the lawyerâ€™s success rate?

Review the personal injury lawyerâ€™s track record. Find out what you can about the attorneyâ€™s succe rate at trial. How many cases has the attorney won of those s/heâ€™s taken to trial? Of those cases that the attorney won, what was the amount of the award to the plaintiff, and how did that differ from the amount requested? As important as trial success is settlement success, since many personal injury cases are settled out of court rather than going through trial. Ask about your attorneyâ€™s successes in negotiating fair settlements for his/her past clients.

Does the law firm have the resources to handle a substantial case?

Make sure that the Philadelphia personal injury lawyer youâ€™re considering has the resources and support to take your case all the way through trial. For example, if experts and doctors are needed to support your claim, your lawyer must have the network and resources established to provide quality experts.

The Law Offices of Robert W. Sink have been helping personal injury victims receive fair compensation for over 17 years. If you would like to learn more about how the firm can help you, visit the website at www.sinklawoffices.com.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/top-three-things-to-look-for-in-a-philadelphia-personal-

Hank Aaron - About Author:
Hank Aaron is an aspiring law student who wishes to study the areas of personal injury and medical malpractice intently.He provides articles for the general public that are informative and helpful for anyone searching for a seasoned a Philadelphia personal injury lawyer.

Article Keywords:
Philadelphia personal injury lawyer, Philadelphia car accident lawyer

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!