Therefore more accurate to call this reality digital or in some other way And everything is nothing, just a word game, if such determination is not left a mark on the color and meaning. Reality - a reality, just look at it can be from different sides. And it is always interesting to discover new qualities and properties of the same things. Just look at it from another angle. Let's try to look at the world of modern computer online games in different waysToday, there are thousands of online games, and every day new ones appear. How to understand the ocean of entertainment and pick up the game like? With so many offers to get confused very easily. And not to make unnecessary mistakes, it is necessary to clearly define for yourself exactly what you want? First, what kind of game do you like? It can be action or simulation, arcade, or RPG. Sorting games by genre, we are getting closer to the goal, sweeping aside the heap of rubbish, which offers a worldwide network here and there, shining with colorful banners. Thus, the majority of all online games belongs to the genre of RPG (role-playing game). The key word in the abbreviation Role - the role. Play a role. This is something that every day we are engaged in daily life. So why not try to do it in a virtual :) space? No limits, just like in real life, no consequences. If we are so anxious to do something bad, then the best option and you will not find. All online games in general and in particular the RPG can be divided into two broad categories:

1. Browser. To play these games, you need only Internet Access and browser software (Internet Explorer, Opera, Mozilla Firefox, etc.). If you have limited traffic, disk space or you just do not want to clog your computer junk, it will be the best option. Usually these games are easy to learn and manage, not have good graphics, and thus not demanding on computer resources. For owners of this property is feeble machines when choosing games can be decisive. The advantages of such games may also include the opportunity to play with any other computer that met the above conditions (Inet and browser), and today most of these machines already. The first browser-based online games were purely textual. But technology is not standing still, and now there are many games that utilize raster video or Flash. For simplicity and relatively low levels of required performance added a nice picture. It is worth noting that the only condition for correct operation of Flash games is a fast Internet connection.

2. Client. This is a game requiring additional client software. This distribution is the game you want to install (and in some cases, simply re-write) to your computer. Most of these client programs are not sold in stores, online games and download them to the network. Moreover, the size distribution can range from a few megabytes to several gigabytes. It would be logical to assume that the greater part of the installation, the game better and more interesting, besides the graphics capabilities of the product increased in proportion to its size. However, this is not always the case. It is not uncommon typical cases where the client is pumped a couple of gigs in weight, and then we find an ugly interface, weak graphics, but the gameplay is generally not a speech. To protect yourself from such unfair developers should carefully consider all available information about the game. See screenshots, read reviews, find the number of people permanently residing on the server. The gameplay, interface, graphics and genre of your choice. Also, pay attention to the company of the developer. There are different brands that produce only quality products. But all rules there are exceptions and there are examples where high-quality online products create simple enthusiasts who collect their community in the vast network and implement the ideas. An example of such a development could be a stalker online , which was originally designed by amateurs.

What game would you not choose for yourself or a client browser or any other RPG genre, carefully review all available information and opinions, but then you will be guaranteed a good time in the company of the world.
