Roger Hamilton and the Nemesis of the Present Economic System by Corwin Smith

Article published on December 12th 2011 | Business

One of the best things that could have happened to the world of wealth creation is the advent of the man named Roger Hamilton. And the world of wealth creation and the people involved in it no matter how many and from which domain they come from had been waiting for somebody like him who can challenge the existing system that is full of flaws and lacunas. The present economic system that has been in control of all the activities concerning the wealth creation had time and time again has shown that there is not one but many chinks in its amour. And Roger Just did not do a mending job like many others in the same domain had been doing or trying to do. He simply introduced a new system, a new methodology, a new set of theories that is very fast proving to be the nemesis of the existing system of wealth creation.

And it only took ten years for Roger Hamilton to realize that the existing system that he himself was a part of and much more than that an ardent follower and supporter of, to realize that this is not the way wealth can even be defined, and then talking about the creation of wealth while following the same system is completely out of the question. And thus began his journey of inquisitive search to find that principle, that foundation stone on which the real authentic structure of wealth creation can be built. And the tenacity that this man is blessed with and the hard work that is his second nature; he in no time discovered or rather that foundation stone itself revealed himself to him.

Once the system that had to be constructed and then introduced to not only the people involved in the act of wealth creation but also otherwise became clear to him, Roger Hamilton did not waste anytime but just went on to encapsulate that system in the form of theories that are now very fast capturing the imagination of the entire world. Such is the authenticity of these theories that many of the experts in the field of wealth creation who till now were worshipping at the altars of the existing system have now changed there allegiance.

And Roger Hamilton has made sure that this system that should have been the only system governing the world of economy makes its presence felt in almost all the spheres involving the creation and management of wealth. He has founded many organizations like the XL Nation that regularly organizes events to make sure that all the latest activities that Roger and his supporters are involved in are communicated properly to the interested people and organizations.
