Rumor Mongers Continue Their Wholesaledeals Scam Diatribe with No Success

by Brad Smith

Article published on December 15th 2011 | Business

Wholesaledeals scam reports are not news to members of the largest trade directory in the UK. They have been hearing the rumors for some time now and know very well what they really mean. Members who have subscribed to use their services are aware of the high levels of efficiency and the ethical manner in which the portal functions.

Despite wholesaledeals scam rumors, the website continues to attract registrations from thousands of suppliers and buyers every month. Wholesaledeals is the best way to trade online safely without the fear of scams and scammers. The suppliers listed on the site are verified and checked thoroughly for their legitimacy. This makes it easy for buyers to find reputable suppliers for their e-commerce stores.

â€¢ Deals Are Announced Regularly on the Site

The wholesaledeals directory is best trade directory for eBay product suppliers. It is possible to buy wholesale and dropship products at 45 to 95 percent margins firm in the knowledge that they will sell in large quantities and help them earn smart profits on eBay and Amazon. The deals are not one-off offerings at the fastest-growing trade directory service in the UK.

New deals are sourced by experienced researchers from their large database of verified suppliers and put up for the trade buyers on a daily basis. Members can be sure of having a steady supply of the best deals of low-priced products that wonâ€™t entail large investments. Wholesaledeals is known to work for the benefit of the small and medium retailers, and the small wholesale lot deals are a sign of this direction. Members vouch for the fact that there is no wholesaledeals scam at work here, and each and every single deal is genuine.

The portal has exposed the nefarious acts of many fake suppliers and middlemen in the past and has forced them to shut down. E-commerce business is conducted more safely now than it was in the past thanks to the continuous and untiring efforts of trade directory services such as wholesaledeals. They have ensured that the risk elements are mitigated and unscrupulous suppliers are banned. The rumors about wholesaledeals scams are being spread by the same elements to paint the portal in a bad light among members and potential clients.

â€¢ The Deals Are Performance Guaranteedâ€”Or You Get Your Money Back

Wholesaledeals offers a money-back guarantee on all its deals. If you buy a single deal tracker and the product is unavailable or costs more than what has been mentioned in the deal details, you can claim a full refund. Wannabe members wanting to try out the services of wholesaledeals at zero risk can start by subscribing to the free weekly newsletter. The letter is full of valuable and authentic news and tips about the upcoming, hottest deals. They also preview the deals for you so that you can move faster and make the best of it. You can be sure that there is no wholesaledeals scam here because the deal sources are authentic.

The current average markup on the website is a whopping 279 percent of wholesale prices of quality products.

Article Source:

http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/rumor-mongers-continue-their-wholesaledeals-scam-diatribe-with-no-success.htm - Article Side

Brad Smith - About Author:
a Wholesaledeals scam rumors are not taken seriously by the members using this site on a regular basis. UK online traders are aware that reports about these a Wholesaledeals scams are just tactics to sully the reputation that wholesaledeals has among the UK trading community.

Article Keywords:
Wholesaledeals scam, Wholesaledeals scams

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!