Article Side
Printing High Quality Business Cards & Other Official Documents Via Laser Printer by Julia Roger

Article published on July 10th 2012 | Advertising

Office stationery and related products have a strong importance in the business industry. Every venture big or small, need to have a set of these products, as they are required on a daily basis. A quality-printing device is also one of the most important devices to have in possession. Most offices do have one or two quality printers in their possession. These devices help in printing quality business cards, brochures, circulars, and different other official documents. They can be used for printing leaflets, banners, and posters, which are great for outdoor advertising.

As mentioned in the above paragraph, a quality printer can be quite effective for official purpose. However, it is necessary to find one such device. There are different manufacturers available like Epson, Lexmark, Canon, Fujitsu, Samsung, Hewlett Packard, etc. They all manufacture different ncr printing devices. However, it is necessary to look for those devices that match the need and requirement of a company in the best possible way. Printers are mainly of two types: Inkjet and Laser.

Laser printers are normally more expensive. They also have higher ink cartridge cost. However, they provide much higher quality printing when compared to inkjet. Moreover, laser cartridge is capable to print a minimum of 1000 pages in the optimal quality settings.

Inkjet printers may well have a low cartridge cost, but it much slower in printing. Moreover, a single cartridge in optimal settings can produce only 80 to 100 printouts.

Offices and organizations mostly opt for laser printers. These days, printers are available with scanner and fax options. These 3-in-1 devices are extremely popular within the corporate world. Their portability makes it easier to achieve multiple tasks within investing much money as well space. To print high quality business cards or any other business journals, laser printers are considered the best option to avail.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/advertising-articles/printing-high-quality-business-cards-other-official-documents-via-laser-printer.htm - Article Side

Julia Roger - About Author:
For more information on a ncr printing, check out the info available online; these will help you learn to find the a quality business cards!

Article Keywords:
ncr printing, quality business cards

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!