Painless Bikini Waxing: a Great Alternative to Razor Shaving by Justine Cricks

Article published on June 25th 2012 | Health

Youâ€™ve worked hard all spring to achieve your desired body weight. Youâ€™ve shunned sweet treats, even those dark chocolates you love so much. Youâ€™ve also saved up to buy a designer bikiniâ€”one tha would have all eyes on you when you set foot on the beach.

Once youâ€™re at the beach, you begin immersing yourself in the cool waters. However, you start to sense an irritation in your bikini area. You think it couldnâ€™t possibly be because of the designer bikiniâ€”no piece of clothing worth that much would cause skin irritation. Suddenly, you realize itâ€™s your actual bikini area thatâ€™s itching because you shaved instead of getting a bikini wax.

A lot of women avoid getting a bikini wax because of the pain it entails. Thankfully, modern scientific research has led to the creation of products that actually guarantee a pain-free bikini wax. One of these products comes in the form of a cream you can apply to numb the area being waxed. With these productsâ€”some of which you could use right in the comfort of your own homeâ€”you can finally say goodbye to those dreadful razors.

A bikini wax offers many advantages that shaving does not. For one, the womanâ€™s bikini area is one of the most delicate parts of the body, and shaving makes it prone to cuts. Shaving does not guarantee the removal of all hair in the bikini area, as using the razor too much in a certain area will cause redness and irritation. To ensure a painless bikini waxing session, you should study your options so that you wonâ€™t have to deal with the usual pain women go through when having hair removed from their bikini line.

Itâ€™s considered a myth by most people, but once youâ€™ve shaved an area of hair on any body part, th hair thatâ€™ll grow back will be stubbly and stiff. With a bikini wax, the hair that grows back will be softer. Also, shaving requires you to shave at least thrice a week to keep the affected area stubble-free. With a bikini wax, you only need to go back to the salon or spa within four to six weeks. A home kit for bikini hair removal will give you more privacy, but be sure to choose one that offers a painless bikini wax.

It isnâ€™t enough to work out for that fabulous bikini body: your body should also be free from unsightly hair, especially in the bikini area. To ensure that youâ€™ll have lots of fun at the beach with zero embarrassing incidents involving unsightly hair, opt for a pain free bikini wax.
