If the sleek gray coat and vivid blue eyes of a Weimaraner are your idea of canine perfection, you can find champion-bred Weimaraner puppies to add to your family at South Side Dogs.

Located in Worcester, in the western region of New York State, South Side Dogs prides itself on world-class Weimaraner puppies that are born to American Kennel Club (AKC) registered champion dogs.

South Side Dogs specializes in healthy, robust dogs with intelligence, great personalities and excellent temperaments. Whether or not youâ€™re interested in showing your dog or if you just want a pure-bred pup to love, South Side Dogs breeds with integrity, ensuring that all their animals are well-bred and well cared for.

The breeds South Side Dogs specializes in are Vizslas, Weimaraners, Rhodesian Ridgebacks and German Shorthaired Pointers. All breeds are registered with the American Kennel Club (AKC) and are guaranteed to be in good health.

Choosing a pure-bred puppy takes a lot of research and commitment. When you decide you want to add a dog to your family, you have to be ready to commit to taking care of it at every life state. The experts at South Side Dogs guide all potential owners through all the necessary steps of acquiring a champion-bred puppy, and will work to ensure that their dogs are a great match for their owners.

There are many registered dog breeds in the United States and many breeders. The importance of choosing the correct breed for your family also comes with the decision of which breeder to purchase your dog from. There are many questions to ask when deciding on a breeder, such as the conditions where the dogs are born and raised, the health and well-being of the dogs and their puppies, plus genetics that will ensure the dogs will lead happy, healthy lives. In addition, all the breeds at South Side Dogs are socialized so they will interact well with adults, children and other animals. These qualities make South Side Dogs a trusted breeder that offers the best possible examples of the breeds of dogs they sell.

The Weimaraner is a medium-sized dog, weighing about 60 pounds, friendly and highly intelligent. They love people, other dogs and cats, and can be trained to perform various tasks. They are eager to please and are the perfect dog for families with small children. Their coats range in color from a mouse to silver gray, and their eyes are always vivid blue, amber or gray. The Weimaraner puppies at South Side Dogs are guaranteed to be free from genetic defects and are socialized and ready to begin training when you adopt one.

All the puppies at South Side Dogs are cared for by the top veterinarians in the area. They are all up-to-date with shots and worming treatments, and come with a certificate of health from the attending doctor.
