The Truth Behind the Stories of Wholesale Deals Scam by Brad Smith

Article published on December 22nd 2011 | Business

For one, Wholesale Deals scam reports have scared buyers who have never been members of Wholesale Deals but had plans to sign up. Second, Wholesale Deals scam stories usually relate to some kind of supplier scam. For example, the Wholesale Deals scam reports often mention that Wholesale Deals offers paid membership and access to various lucrative product deals. However, these promises â€" according to the reports â€" are not fulfilled.

When stories like this spread, it is not easy to sift truth from lies. However, one has to try, because by not understanding the truth you will deprive yourself of some rather unique and profitable deals.

Letâ€™s take the second issue first. Wholesale deals scam reports have often suggested that this website charges buyers for registration, but retracts on its promise of delivering wholesale goodies. If you visit the company website, you will see that the site does nothing of the sort. On contrary, it has a guaranteed deals policy.

Deals Assured

What is the guaranteed deals policy? In simple terms, Wholesale Deals says that if it has featured a deal, you are going to be able to access it. No excuses, no delays. Furthermore, if a deal is unavailable, you can contact Wholesale Deals and state your problem. The company will take up the issue with the supplier and try to get you the product at the promised price.

If this is not possible, Wholesale Deals will refund your money.

Wholesale Deals scam, seems very unlikely to be true in the face of such clarity and guarantees.

No Hidden Conditions

The terms and conditions for each deal are very clear and buyers can check them before they sign up. Wholesale Deals offers information such as retail price, wholesale price, and selling price on eBay. This information allows buyers to estimate profit margins and the site offers this information for each deal, not just a â€œproduct lineâ€• or â€œproduct group.â€•

So successful has been this wholesale directoryâ€™s complete information disclosure policy that other wholesale sites have tried to copy it, and not all of them have been successful.

Some rivals, as a matter of fact, have been so annoyed at their repeated failure to beat Wholesale Deals fair and square, have created a whole new, and very dishonest, game-plan. This involves spreading rumours of Wholesale Deals scam. Thanks to the secrecy possible on the internet, it takes little time and no money to spread news of Wholesale Deals scam. In fact, these are the â€œWholesale Deals scamsâ€• that buyers have been reading about for a while now.

The only way to break the cycle of such falsehood and rumour-mongering is to educate buyers. Members of Wholesale Deals, amazed at the allegations, are countering by stating the facts through Wholesale Deals reviews. None of these reviews have hinted at any type of Wholesale Deals scam. Most reviewers have urged buyers to sign up with the directory to take advantage of the unique and profitable deals found only on this site.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/the-truth-behind-the-stories-of-wholesale-deals-scam.htm - Article Side

Brad Smith - About Author:
What is the truth behind the stories of a Wholesale Deals scams? Wholesale Deals, as most of us know, has been functional since 2004, supplying resellers and internet marketers with merchandize for their online stores. However, of late, there have been rumours of a Wholesale Deals scam and these stories are not pretty.

Article Keywords:
Wholesale Deals scam, Wholesale Deals scams

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!