

Article Side

The Benefits of Opening Pop Up Shops by Devaabrata

Article published on May 31st 2012 | Advertising

Pop up shops focus on short term sales in UK, US and Australia. They are retail stores developed especially for those customers who want to purchase limited edition products. When all the products are sold the owner will close the shop for a while until new stocks come and again the shops are reopened for the sale of new products. These types of shops particularly target some retail customers who travel from a long distance to purchase such product. The main aim of such shop is to market a particular brand. The trend of pop up shops is rising in UK to attract more customers into this segment. Lots of large brands have developed such pop up shops, in UK as a part of their campaign and also their main aim is to develop brand awareness among people. Sometimes the sale in such shops would be there only for one day and when the products are sold the shops would remain closed.

These shops "Pop Up" any day and disappear anywhere. Such companies create a unique environment to handle their customers. They often market seasonal items such as Christmas gifts, trees and decorations, New Year gifts and fireworks, Halloween costumes, marriage costumes and accessories. Hundred of such shops are opened during festival season. Blazinstar Experiential are such marketing experts based in UK will help opening and campaigning such stores. Pop up retails operate in a retail chain and some shops run by franchisees. Such types of stores are located in middle class area and they keep on changing their location each year.

These types of stores sell more unique items and they succeed in selling out such products within 1 or 2 days. The employees working in pop up shops would be sign waivers and they try to attract more passersby at that street. Marketing is done by using large banners. Such stores benefit people a lot and their main purpose is to increase sale of a particular product. The main benefit of such shops are that they don't go for long term commitment and such shops helps in making brand famous among people. These shops can benefit retail to gain success in new market. Online merchants can also try a hand in selling such products to customers. It is very cheap to open such stores by negotiating with the landlord and you will easily get vacant places at high street shopping area. The main benefit is that low risk investments are done to open such shops. This temporarily retail unit is becoming very popular now a days due to number of reasons. Big brands are taking more advantage of such shops. Such retail stores are successful in attracting more customers.

This content is taken from

<http://www.ideamarketers.com/?articleid=3275663&CFID=182922849&CFTOKEN=61697897>

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/advertising-articles/the-benefits-of-opening-pop-up-shops.htm> - Article Side

Devaabrata - About Author:

a Media Agency results in viral word of mouth which leads to exponential outcomes. We are dedicated in providing innovative and creative ideas, that translate into long term brand building strategies. To know more about a Pop Up Shops Please have a look at our website.

Article Keywords:

Experiential Marketing,Experiential Events,Brand Experience,Brand Activation,Experiential Marketing London,Marketing communications Agency,Marketing Agencies London,Pop Up Shops,Experiential Marketing Agency,Media Agency

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!