Create a beautiful powder room in your home by Smith

Article published on August 16th 2012 | Interior Design

Not every home has a especially dedicated room called powder room. Powder room is a room thatâ€™s exclusively used to dress up and enhance appearance. People usually have some place or the other to dress up in every morning. But certain people are more creative than others and envision a beautiful space where they spend a good time dressing up every single day.

All one needs is- to have a room thatâ€™s decorated in a very fresh way to feel all the more fresh in the morning. The room must smell good. The fragrance of talcum, perfumes and lotions must be the significant components in the room. The room would offer your guests a much rejuvenated area where they can spend time after a nice scrumptious dinner and re-touch the make-up!

Powder rooms are essentially elite, considering the fact that normal homes in todayâ€™s world do not even have a lot of space to experiment with. People with powder room in their houses would have bigger places by implication. The closet space can also be converted into a nice powder room. You just need to decorate your powder room in an easy way.

You can install laminate counter top surfaces to ensure optimum space to store all your cosmetics, your shoes, your beauty equipment etc. The laminate surfaces are water-resistant and are stable. You can opt for different colors in laminates and create the desired color scheme in the area. The laminates are very easy to clean as well as are extremely easy to maintain. You need to lend your basin a much desired twist by opting for a ceramic or may be a glass fitting.

You also need to install store fixtures to make sure that all your things are stored properly. These fixtures have revolutionized storage spaces and are also available in extremely interesting colors, textures and patterns.

You need to add interesting lights just above your mirror and the plastic laminate countertop in your powder room to facilitate a comfortable vanity area. You need to hang a bright and interesting wall painting. Clad one wall extremely brightly to pep up the whole space. Keep some magazines in the area too to make it a space which offers entertainment possibilities as well. Opt for a comfortable sitting area alongside the mirror in the area so that you can just comfortable dress up or do your make-up every day!
