A luxurious stay in a hotel provides complete comfort and also makes you feel refreshed. But these luxury places even display various signs to convey a message or indicate something. These signs are essential for the smooth running of the business and also prove to be convenient for guests. hotel room signs are those signs which are displayed within the hotel premises to make it easy for the hotel visitors, guests or tourists to understand them. Even those tourists who do not know English can conveniently decipher the meaning of these signs.

The reception sign is the sign that let the guests know about the important aspects of their hotel like prices, check in and checkout time, room options etc. There are also other signs within the hotel which inform the guests about using a night door after certain hours, logos of travel associations that the hotel belongs to etc. The room number signs are custom made to reflect the hotelâ€™s style. Sometime these signs are used to differentiate between the room categories as well. There are also route signs that are posted near entrance doors, stairways and elevators. The emergency exit signs are another necessary part of the hotel signage.

There are even signs for elevators, smoking and no smoking areas. These are primary signs which you would find almost in every hotel. Apart from these signs there are also signs which are meant to depict various amenities provided by the hotel. Swimming pool, recreation area, rest room, exercise room, and parking, besides these visually impaired signs are even displayed so that tourists can easily find their way out to such facilities. Laundry and dining facilities are also marked appropriately so that the guests need not have to ask for directions regarding the same.

These signs not only help the guests but even the hotel staff from unnecessary disturbances related to the directions for locating different amenities being offered. These signs are both cost effective and an efficient medium to convey the message. Next time when you check in to any hotel do remember to have a look at the various signs being displayed all around the premises.
