Article Side

With Stock Daily Quotes Tracker, daily stock quotes is at your fingertips by William Jackson

Article published on July 31st 2012 | Business

Investing in the stock market is lot easier than earlier with the latest technology. A wide range stock market software of various types are available today and each of them is specialized in performing particular task. The latest software in stock market that has been released is Stock Daily Quotes Tracker which asynchronously retrieves daily stock quotes. This tool has an expertise in managing your positions on the basis of price movement when you manage your own portfolio, employee stock options, 401k, or take part in employee stock purchase plan.

What makes Stock Daily Quotes Tracker a must have for the stock market investors is its various advantages. Depending on your needs it will provide both real time as well as 15 minutes delay mode. Simply set up the Tracker when you wish to buy/sell the stock as soon as its price moves down/up to a definite level and leave it up to the Stock Daily Quotes Tracker to monitor it for you. It will issue an alert as soon as the stock gets out of the predefined range. The other advantages are, the Tracker also gives you window for embedded stock information that is capable of retrieving the summary, chart and news of a definite company from Yahoo Finance. What more, to make decision all the more easy, technical indicators like Bollinger Bands, Williams %R, Moving Average, Parabolic SAR, MFI, RSI, MACD,ROC, Fast Stochastic and Slow Stochastic are available.

A few things to know about Stock Daily Quotes Tracker:

The software window/icon blinks and corresponding symbols are highlighted as soon as the alert is issued, so there is no chance of missing the alert.

Batch monitoring of symbol lists identified by you.

Both real time and delay mode are supported

Updating of indices, stocks & mutual funds traded publicly in US as well as Canadian markets are supported

Update price range and frequency for triggering alert can be customized

Capable of browsing stock detail without leaving the software with the help of embedded stock information window

Various technical indicators are supported with enhanced chart setting

Download is asynchronous

For Stock Daily Quotes Tracker you need to pay only one time purchase fee, there is no further subscription fee.

Making investment in stock market is not a very easy task; as a beginner investor it is important for everyone to do the homework properly and have good knowledge about various software so that there is better chance of profit on the share trades. Understanding of the investment market and making use of the best of strategies and tools is vital for fortune and success in the trade.

The premier software development company, Analyxit is a specialist in providing investment software applications which are meant for individual investors. This company believes that the best things for the success of investment investors are education and knowledge. The expert tools offered by them are capable of effectively translating the data into useful information to help the individuals in taking wise investment decision. Stock Daily Quotes Tracker from Analyxit is a big step in personal money management for the stock exchange investors. With the help of this software the investors can avoid any confusion related to personal finances.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/with-stock-daily-quotes-tracker-daily-stock-quotes-is-at-your-fingertips.htm - Article Side

William Jackson - About Author:
William Jackson is a a stock market investment consultant who has been rendering a great service for the last 15 years. He has written many articles on use of the latest tools so that investors can have success with investment. In this article he is providing us information on a Stock Daily Quotes Tracker.

Article Keywords:
data download, stock, stock market, stock fundamental data, stock historical data, stock market browser, metastock format

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!