Article published on December 23rd 2011 | College

North eastern states of India are generally regarded as backward states. These states are not much developed when compared with other states of India. With very few major industries and business establishments, these states are not at all contributing to the industrial development of India. The main reason stated for this is the backwardness of this region in education. But, this situation has changed a lot now. CMJ University Meghalaya is playing an important role in this field. It is really contributing to develop the educational level of not only the state of Meghalaya but also for the entire north eastern region. The days have gone when the students of this region have to depend on Kolkata for higher education. CMJ University is offering various courses in different subjects. It is conducting courses at various levels too. In each course the cmj university authorities are taking all care to keep certain level of standards. This interest is also seen in arranging necessary facilities for the students too.

That is why cmj university courses and the certificates are considered equal to that of any other major universities of India. Even the cmj university phd is considered as one of the best in India and a lot of students from other parts of India too are applying for an admission for it. cmj university admission processes are not so complicated. It allows students from all over India to apply for any courses. But they are very strict in maintaining the quality of education. So the criteria for admissions are a bit strict. If you are fulfilling all the criteria there is no doubt that you will get the admission. cmj university india has spread its reputation abroad too. So many students from foreign countries are coming here for pursuing their higher studies. The university authorities are also keen to arrange all the facilities for these foreign students including hostel facility etc.

As you are aware, the north eastern part of India is famous for its natural beauty and calm and quite atmosphere. With less industrial development, the level of pollution is also very less. This atmosphere really provides a favorite condition for education. This is another added quality for CMJ University India. A good team of expert teachers and non teaching staffs are required to maintain certain quality in education. CMJ University is blessed in that case too. They are also providing every support to the students.
