Most of us have at one time or another was pulled over by the police. It is an inevitable feature of driving that we just have to deal with it one time or another despite whether you have been pulled over yet or not you most likely have noticed the irregular looking mounted laptop in all police cars. Sitting to the right of the steering wheel these mobile computers have become normal issue tools in the law enforcement field. In this article, we will review of the different aspects that make these police laptop computers quite distinct from your average laptop.

The first main dissimilarity is that these laptops are prepared with a magnesium alloy casing that is exceptionally rugged. Because law enforcement needs the best tools, feasible police departments made a judgment a long time ago to install the most dependable reliable mobile computers possible. The principal choice crosswise the country appears to be Panasonic Toughbooks. Being one of the pioneers of rugged laptops many points to the Toughbook as these leading heavy-duty laptops to own.

The next main characteristic that sets these police laptop to one side is their skill to deal with humidity. From spilled coffee to rain on storms these laptops can take an incredible amount of punishment. It factually can be positioned in a running shower openly under the shower head for days and continue running. One of the major design variations that make this achievement is the lack of a cooling fan. In its place engineers have chosen to go with a heat channel that directs heat away from the piece. Reports have surfaced of officers and military staff using these laptops to protect them from gunfire. The thing is when an officer is on the beat an internet connection basically makes his job much easier..
