At present, Nixon watches is rated to be one of the best watch makers in the world. The quality of the products manufactured by the companies is so classy and elegant that many people are often left guessing that how can a company that do not have much of a history of extensive watching making deliver such high results.

Nixon Watches is a relatively newer company which saw its genesis only a decade ago in 1997 in the city of California, US. They started making fashionable watches especially for the younger generation. Their designs proved to be unique and of a great quality which helped them to gain brand recognition for their products in a pretty short spell of time. What many bigger and older brands failed to do, Nixon managed to do successfully i.e. be unique and achieve total customer satisfaction, reasons that made it a frontrunner within years after its launch.

After a dream run for a decade, the company was purchased by Billabong International for a record fifty million dollars. Under the new brand name, the quality of the products enhanced further and the reputation expanded rapidly to every corner of the world rapidly.

So, if you are wondering what makes Nixon Watch so popular, there are three major reasons to be very precise? Firstly, they are unique and highly stylish which makes them highly preferable among most people, preferably the women and the younger generations. Apart from this, the products are durable and resistant to really high which means that it is going to survive for a long period of time without any wear and tear. Thirdly, they associated a rare flair that is almost destined to get noticed every time a person wears them.
