Online Magazines â€“ a Paradise for the Magazine Readers

by Khalil Huseni

Article published on July 11th 2012 | E-Commerce

The era of magazines started during the 18th century (1731) when the first magazine was published by Edward â€œSylvanus Urbanâ€• Cave in London called â€˜The Gentlemanâ€™s Magazineâ€™. Magaz available in the e-magazine format. Online magazines have now become the latest trend in the world. Accessing magazines from the online platform is very much easy and fast compared to the printed editions. Like the printed oneâ€™s these also are updated on regular basis â€“ weekly, fortnightly, monthly, quarterly, half-yearly or annually. These magazines are categorised into various sections. They are available on the basis of their contents. These mainly feature â€“ Agriculture & its related services, Plants & Animals, Architecture, Design, Art, Literature, Music, Career, Business, Finance, Vehicles, Gadgets, Games, Current Affairs, Politics, Consumer Affairs, Defence, Education, Entertainment, Family Issues, Environment, Fashion, Cinema, Food & Drinks, Health & Medicines, Humour & Satire, Law, Lifestyle, Consumer Products, Media, Religion, Safety & Security, Science, History, Geography, Sports, Technology, Transport, Travel etc.

These Online Magazines contain more amount of information than their printed versions. There are many online froms of magazines that are quite famous and popular. These periodicals come in many different languages all over the globe.. All these online form of magazines are considered to be the best. Some are cost-free while some need a subscription fee which is very nominal. These magazines have become one of the most effective and efficient ways of advertisement and publicity. They are extremely advantageous for the readers. To access them there is only one requirement i.e. an internet connection. They are a good source for relaxation, entertainment and knowledge. Due to the increasing competition among the publishers the quality of these webzines are constantly increasing which is very much beneficial for the general public. It seems that in a few years time, the era of printed magazines will come to an end making the Webzines the Kings of Magazines.

These magazines available on the online platform are more interactive. These contain animations, audio, video and various other effects that are more interactive. The infromation is made available with entertainment. Reading a magazine in the online form is more indulging compared to the print medium.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/e-commerce-articles/online-magazines-a-paradise-for-the-magazine-readers.htm - Article Side

Khalil Huseni - About Author:
Dobazaar is a UAE based online bookstore that offers all types of a Online Magazines. a Buy Magazines Online and get free Delivery at your doorstep.

Article Keywords:
Online Magazines, Buy Magazines

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!