The music video albums are considered to be a pinnacle of a way in order to be prominent in the industry of music. It doesnâ€™t matter that whether they were on Youtube.com or MTV nowadays, the thing that matters is that they have been a portal to glory as well as fame. It is a fact that a song wonâ€™t be that much eye catching that it attracts the viewers but the music video albums of the songs can attract and persuade the listeners to like the band. So this makes it way too clear that music is nothing without music video albums. When you make a music video then this means you are going to set an opportunity in order to get tons of fans. But the very first question on the maker of the video or the music band is what will make the music video a good one.

If you have watched some of the music videos then you must have noticed one thing that not a single video is without a theme. There are different themes for all of the music videos as it would be according to the music such as it can be humor or else it can be creepy feeling. Or else it can be a more specific theme for example the theme of breaking up. It is true that among all of the videos, the 90 percent of them may definitely have a theme in order to make them eye catching and interesting to attract majority. The remaining ones would be without any of the themes just playing the random clips or doing random acts in the background.

It is true that the videos which are remembered by the majority are the ones that have a purpose. So this simply indicates that the first step to make your music video attracting you needs to have some sort of plot line. What you are required to do is. Take a piece of paper, divide it in 9 boxes. Then turn by turn make scenes in these 9 boxes that come into your mind. If all these scenes together make any sense to you, then it's time to move to the second step.

The next step that is required to be fulfilled in order to make a perfect music video is the need to have a good camera. This is because no one wants to watch a video which is made from your phone. So in order to have a clear and attracting video you need to have a professional camera.

Now you have your plotline, you are done with deciding your music and you are ready with the camera in order to make the video. Now what you require to have is someone who is able to play the guitar solo along with the simple drum beat plus simple bass riff. So this way you do not need to record the drummer. It all depends on the music and the theme you have selected.
