Having the proper underwear is something that is highly underrated. However, when you consider the importance of having underwear, you will notice that you can never take chances with them, especially if you are a man. For instance, the kind of underwear you choose will play a huge role in determining how comfortable you are throughout the day. This means that if you do not pay attention when you are shopping for such things, you may end up having a collection of underwear which only makes you uncomfortable throughout the day.

The other very important reason why underwear has to be worn is for hygiene purposes. However, in order for the underwear to fulfill such purposes, it has to be handled in a certain manner. For starters, if you are to have underwear which is comfortable and which is unlikely to embarrass you such as by emitting odors, the first thing you would do is make sure that it is made of the right material. Typically, cotton is the best kind of material to make the underwear out of, so you should always try to make sure that you buy high quality cotton underwear.

The other issue you always need to remember is that you should wash and change the underwear frequently. The crotch region has many sweat glands, and if such sweat is left to stay in one place for too long, it can lead to emission of odors that may embarrass one in public. This means that you always need to make sure that you change the underwear each day, and to wash them with the same frequency. Being clothes that we wear under our normal clothes, it may be tempting to keep wearing the same underwear for long without changing it. While the world may not see this, in extreme cases it is often easy to tell that one's underwear is dirty just by the smell that it emits.

When washing the underwear, it is very important that you do it right. Most of the time, such garments will come with instructions on how to do the washing, such as what kind of soap to use and whether you should wash it with cold or hot water. It is very important that you follow these instructions, as they ensure that any dirt and smell from the underwear is gotten rid of fast.

If you have underwear that does not have such instructions, you can simply look to the internet for more advice on how to do this. There are many articles you can use to make a decision on how to wash these items of clothing. Since most underwear is made of cotton, you can simply try to look for guides on how to best wash cotton so that it retains its qualities. At the end of the day, keeping in mind some of the above issues will make sure that your underwear serves you well as far as hygiene is concerned. When you do this, you will never have to suffer the embarrassment of having worn dirty underwear.
