Have a Great Dining Experience at the Chinese, Thai and Japanese Restaurants in Mumbai by Preeti

Article published on December 29th 2011 | Food

International cuisine has made its presence felt in India since a long time now. Indians have become more open when it comes to trying out various cuisines from around the world. Cuisines like Thai, Chinese and Japanese have been loved by the Indians and slowly they are cultivating a taste for it. Chinese cuisine has become a favorite of many Indians and they prefer to eat it when they go out. But off late, Thai and Japanese cuisine have also been a part of the ongoing food trend.

Chinese cuisine is a hot favorite for children, youngsters and the old people alike. Chinese dishes are even cooked in Indian homes. No other international cuisine has made as strong impact on out eating habits as has the Chinese cuisine. Chow mein, Paneer chilli, chicken chilli, and spring rolls are the most popular dishes which are liked by everyone. Chinese restaurants in Mumbai can be seen in every nook and corner of the city. They provide authentic Chinese taste to the customers. Several Chinese food chains have also come up to cash in on this trend. Famous restaurants which serve Chinese food in Mumbai are reserved most of the time and one has to take prior appointment in order to get a table there. Almost all the main areas of the city have various Chinese restaurants like Lower Parel, Malad, Santacruz, Bandra, Powai, etc. the cost of a single meal for two persons ranges from as little as five hundred rupees and goes as high as two thousand rupees.

Thai cuisine is also slowly making inroads into our palate. It has become famous as it is light on the stomach and also very healthy. Thai soups are specially loved by those people who are on a diet. Thai food combines the sweet, salty and sour flavors in it and this lends a unique taste to the dish which is very different from the spicy food that Indians are used to eating. Thai restaurants in Mumbai are present in almost every five star hotel. Mostly the restaurants that serve Thai food also serve other international cuisines too.

Japanese cuisine is also another cuisine that is slowly but steadily becoming quite popular in India. When one talks of the Japanese cuisine one instantly thinks of Sushi, which is the most popular Japanese dish loved by the Indians. But there are other Japanese dishes too that are slowly making their presence felt like Hamo, Botamochi, Cgimaki, etc. Japanese food is known for the quality of its ingredients and also for its presentation. The world has finally woken up to this amazing cuisine. Japanese restaurants in Mumbai are scattered all over the city. Some restaurants offer only Japanese food that is truly authentic while the others also serve other international cuisines.

So get ready for a great dining experience with all these delicious cuisines available near to you. You will surely find that eating is a pleasurable activity which doubles if you eat at a god restaurant along with your loved ones.
