Many homeowners see their yards as an extension of their indoor space. Features such as custom fire pits make outdoor spaces as cozy and inviting as indoor rooms. However, many homeowners struggle to find the right landscape architecture firms to create their ideal outdoor features. From yard lighting to fire pit plans, an experienced company will work with clients to create the perfect outdoor spaces.

Sometimes, customers prefer the look of outdoor stone fireplaces for their patios. With an outdoor fireplace, homeowners make sure that they can use their patio even during cooler seasons. The firelight provides the perfect atmosphere for an intimate gathering hosted under the stars or for a quiet family dinner on the patio.

Proper yard lighting adds to both the beauty and the security of a home. A well-lit yard allows homeowners to see their surroundings at all times so that intruders have no place to hide. More importantly, landscape lighting will highlight both living and architectural landscape features so that they complement a home both day and night.

Custom fire pits provide the perfect gathering place for company. In addition to providing warmth, fire pits bring back memories of childhood evenings spent around the campfire. Fire pits can be assembled from a variety of materials ranging from stucco to copper to create a unified look with the homeownerâ€™s other dÃ©cor. Homeowners can choose wood or gas fire pits depending on their preference.
