If you enjoy water activities or if you are planning a beach vacation, you should check out the latest water activity called stand up paddle surfing, or SUP. Stand up paddle surfing first originated on the beaches of Hawaii and has since become popular around the world. Invented by surf instructors, stand up paddle surfing is the same as surfing except that it is easier to learn. You simply stand up on the board and use a paddle to direct your movement. In just one hour you can enjoy the sport like a pro.

When searching for a water activity that is easy to learn and just as enjoyable, stand up paddle surfing is your best option. The sport offers a complete and easy work out. If you live near a body of water, you should own your own stand up paddle boards for sale. Even if you are just planning on going on a vacation near the ocean or a lake, you should purchase a board. Owning your own means you will be able to use it whenever you want to hit the beach or visit the lake house.

Though there are many different places paddle board for sale, it would be wise to purchase one at Elixir Board Co. They have a wide range of boards to choose from. When you buy stand up paddle board warehouse from Elixir Board Co., you can also buy a touring paddle board and racing paddle board.

For touring, the bamboo surf paddle board is best for the standing or sitting position. You can actually row in a leisurely manner and yet experience your muscles working together for an overall workout. The racing paddle board is typically for calm waters where you can race smoothly on the water. The more traditional paddle boards are made from the same material as the racing paddle board, which are made with carbon fiber. The main difference between traditional boards and racing boards is that traditional boards are designed for more than just racing. Paddle boards for children are also available.

The price ranges from highly affordable to expensive. The more affordable stand up paddle boards are durable and can last years of use. The more expensive ones are for those who want to buy stand up paddle board that has the same durability, yet is designed for specific waters and uses. These are what professional SUP athletes and enthusiasts use.
