If the thought of running through woodlands shooting people with a paint gun fills you with dread you might as well stop reading now. Paintballing obviously isnâ€™t for you itâ€™s too extreme, too out-there, adventurous, you might as well go back to your cup of coco and that lovely knitting brochure. If however, the thought of splatting as many enemies that is humanly possible in the space of a few hours floats your boat, Paintballing is for you my friend.

Get kitted out in Paintballing gear and you feel the old heart rate raise a little as you anticipate just what lies ahead. Itâ€™s a dirty mission but somebodyâ€™s got to do it and armed with your Paintballing g itâ€™s a task youâ€™re fully prepared to undertake. Arrange a paintballing adventure with a group of adu mates or organise some outdoor fun for Kids Parties in the future.

Are you ready?

Book a session at a Paintballing centre and you are given the opportunity to encounter a variety of outdoor playing fields taking part in a variety of scenarios. It doesnâ€™t matter if you havenâ€™t tried Paintballing before games are arranged to suit your individual ability, theyâ€™re suitable for Kids Parties as well.

Arrive at a Paintballing centre in plenty of time and youâ€™ll be briefed about missions and site safety. Included in the price is everything you need to enjoy half a day or a full day adventure, you are handed a Paintballing gun, face mask and overalls, plus an unlimited gas supply. Then itâ€™s simply a case of buying your ammunition, paintballs are sold in packs of 100, loading up your hopper and youâ€™re good to go.

Lock and load

Paintballing is fun but thereâ€™s also a serious aspect to the sport. You get to work as a group, together you take down the enemy as part of the Paintballing challenge and thatâ€™s why itâ€™s popular team building activities as well as Kids Parties, plus hen and stag celebrations as well.

Stealthily sneak out onto the playing field with your trusty Inferno II semi automatic gun in your hands and get ready for one heck of a time on your Paintballing adventure. The action comes thick and fast when you enjoy the various Paintballing scenarios and only the top shooters in your team will survive.
