Article published on May 5th 2012 | Home

Choosing the right paint colour can be the most challenging part of any interior or exterior design project. Yet it is one of the most important tasks that cannot be ignored, as paint colours are an important element of any design foundation. The first thing that your guests notice is the various hues and colours in your interiors. Paint colours have the ability to enhance a place and thus it is very important that you choose the perfect spray paint colours and coordinate them with other objects such as furniture, furnishings and lighting. Paint colours can contain many harmful chemicals which can affect your own health as well as the environment around you. Therefore, it is also very important for you to pick up paint colours that are low on chemicals.

Useful Tips On How to Sample Paint:

Paint colours can differ under different lighting conditions. Also the colour may look slightly different when the paint dries up. The surface on which you will be using the paint can also make a difference to the final outlook. Therefore, bear in mind all these factors while buying touchup paint colours. Here are some useful tips on how to sample paint

â€¢ Create and test colour samples

â€¢ Buy colour in tiny two ounce jars to create your own two foot sample â€¢ Test a fairly big colour sample to get a clear sense of how the colour will actually look.

â€¢ To sample spray paint colours, either paint a portion of the wall directly or use a sampling board to test the colour.

â€¢ Get a colour deck fan which should contain at least a thousand to two thousand colours.

â€¢ Pick out colours from the fan deck that are possible matches with other elements in your home.

Different Types of Paint:

Paint colours not only differ in terms of colours but there are several types and grades of paints depending upon its use. Exterior paint differs from interior paints in terms of washability, colour retention, odour and environmental friendliness. The two main different types of colour paints are â€¢ Touchup Paint: that can be used for refrigeration units, mannequins and various types of machines and equipments.

â€¢ Spray paint: provides an extremely inexpensive and efficient way to touch up different kinds of products.

Where to Buy Touchup Paint?

Paint colours can be easily purchased from online stores that offer worldwide delivery. There are some reputed dealers who specialize in selling environmentally friendly zero VOC paint that are less harmful compared to paints loaded with harmful chemicals. When buying paint, online, what you need to understand is that on-screen representations may vary from actual paint colours. The actual colour will vary depending upon the light source, gloss level, surface substrate and application method. Therefore, choose touchup paint colours carefully while shopping online.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/home-articles/how-to-buy-and-where-to-buy-paint-colours.htm - Article Side

Jason Bronce - About Author:
Jason Bronce is a well known article writer and has written many articles on a paint color, custom paint and a spray paints.

Article Keywords:
spray paint, spray paints, custom paint, paint color, touchup paint

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!