Bay Area Residential Painting: a Job Well by Mark Thissell

Article published on April 9th 2012 | Home Improvement

Every home will eventually need a new coat of paint. When a homeowner decides to have their home painted, it is extremely important that they find a Bay Area residential painting company who is competent and will do a good job, but who will also offer top-rate customer service. Good painters and painting companies, like Custom Painting, Inc., will go the extra mile to make sure that the customer is satisfied with the work completed on their home.

Bay Area residential painting companies run the gamut. They will offer a variety of services and at different prices. They may also require different things of the customer. For instance, some companies will ask the customer to move their furniture while others will move most of the furniture themselves.

It is important that individuals learn what questions to ask potential Bay area residential painting companies before hiring them. While the following isnâ€™t a comprehensive list, it is a good place to start. Individuals should ask painting companies the following:

1. What are your prices? This is a question that should be asked upfront. Determining the price as soon as possible will help avoid wasting both the customerâ€™s and the painting companyâ€™s time. If a Bay Area residential painting companyâ€™s prices are too expensive, a person needs to keep looking until they find one that fits their budget.

2. What is included in your price? It will also be necessary to learn what is included in the painting companyâ€™s price. Hidden fees can quickly drive up the price and can make a seemingly affordable job quite expensive. The customer needs to find out exactly whatâ€™s included in the price.

3. How long will it take you to complete the work? Homeowners need to figure out how long it will take the painting company time to complete the work so that they can schedule their lives accordingly. Because it is likely that a person or family will need to make adjustments, it is important that they know how long the job will take. It would also be helpful to know if they will work during the weekends or off hours to complete the job, if needed.

4. Will you move the furniture or will I have to? This is a very important question, especially for someone who is older and who would subsequently have trouble moving furniture on their own. The same is true of someone who lives alone and who would have a difficult time finding help. Individuals who know that they will have a tough time moving large pieces of furniture may want to opt for a company that will handle this.

Getting these questions answered is important before hiring a Bay Area residential painting company. Having the right answers will enable you to choose between the various painting contractors in the area. This will ensure your painting job is done to your satisfaction and within your budget.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/home-improvement-articles/bay-area-residential-painting-a-job-well.htm - Article Side

Mark Thissell - About Author:

a Custom Painting Inc. , a full service Painting Company in California that also provides Custom Moldings Installation, and a Residential Painting Services. By hiring Custom Painting contractors you have nothing to worry but just look forward to building a successful and aesthetic work environment. Contact us to set up an appointment to discuss your painting project.

Article Keywords:
Residential Painting, Residential Painting Company, Residential Painting Contractor, Best Contractor, Custom Painting, Bay Area

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!