Article Side

How to choose the best vacuum for hardwood floors and commercial vacuum cleaners

by Julia Bennet

Article published on April 27th 2012 | Home Improvement

Commercial vacuuming and hardwood floor vacuuming are different from standard vacuuming. You cannot use a standard domestic vacuum cleaner for cleaning hardwood surfaces and commercial surfaces. There are specialized vacuum cleaners that are available in the market and these are the ones that you should go for. Even then there are many brands and their multiple models available in the market. And hence you need to spend adequate time to find out the best vacuum for hardwood floors and commercial vacuum cleaners best suited for your purpose.

One of the easier ways to find out about the best vacuum for hardwood floors and commercial vacuum cleaners is to go through customer discussions online. To find out these customer discussions online you can do two things. The first thing is to just type "best vacuum for hardwood floors" or "best commercial vacuum cleaners" in your search engine and you will immediately get to find many discussion websites. There will also be a lot of online stores that will come up in the search results but discount them. The other option is to find out specific customer review websites and then using the search option in these websites to go through discussions on the best vacuum for hardwood floors and commercial vacuum cleaners.

Once you go through these discussions you will not only know about the best vacuum for hardwood floors and commercial vacuum cleaners but will also get to know about those vac models that you should avoid at any cost.

As you are going through the online customer discussions on the best vacuum for hardwood floors and commercial vacuum cleaners you should also look up online about what you should be looking for in your vacuum cleaner.

You must always consider the purpose of using the vacuum cleaner and along with it the frequency of use. The other point to consider is the user of the vacuum cleaner. Will you be using it or do you have people that will be using it? In commercial vacs especially, it happens more often that staff members use the vac. Hence you need to look for something really sturdy and easy to maintain.

Ease of use is certainly one of the points to look out for. Since your hardwood floor or commercial vacuum cleaner will be used quite often you need something that is lightweight and has easy controls. And when you are considering the weight don't just consider the weight of the vac body. Even the handle needs to be light enough for you to use it easily.

Some of the other points to consider when you are trying to close in on the best vacuum for hardwood floors and commercial vacuum cleaners include points like True-HEPA filtration, height adjustment capabilities and built in stretch hose and wand. You may also want to consider those machines that conform to the Green Label Program of the Carpet and Rug Institutes.

Keep all this in mind and you will sure pick up the best vacuum for hardwood floors and commercial vacuum cleaners.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/home-improvement-articles/how-to-choose-the-best-vacuum-for-

Julia Bennet - About Author:
For the a best vacuum for hardwood floors and a commercial vacuum cleaners just read what others have to say.

Article Keywords:
Commercial vacuum cleaners,best vacuum for hardwood floors

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!