The Beautiful Beaches in Fuerteventura by Nancy Gallen

Article published on June 27th 2012 | Travel

When any island is mentioned, the first feature that comes to mind is the beaches. The beaches are some of the most popular features in any vacation and holiday and you will find that huge numbers would rather spend their holidays on areas with numerous beaches as compared to those with natural green landscapes. The fact is that the beaches offer more fun and pleasure as well as relaxation most tourists are looking for.

Fuerteventura is an amazing island under the Canary Islands and the fact that it is an island only means that you are bound to find beautiful beaches to have some fun in and bask in the warm sun as you do something interesting. It is an island which easily meets the demands of those who come to enjoy what it has to offer to them. There are some beaches within the island which are worth checking out and even spending some time in to make the holiday as memorable as possible.

Sotavento and Jandia beaches: the areas have great beaches which are ideal for divers and nudists. There is specially a virgin beach between Jandia and Pajara made of fine golden sand and the water here is crystal clear. The clear water is what make the diving experience colorful and it is therefore not a wonder that you will find many divers on this part of the island.

The beach has fishing boats for cruises on the waters and the narrow channel bordering the African continents has large fish amounts. You will find the beach most interesting especially if you are looking for a quieter kind of holiday that still offers mush needed relaxation. It is accessible via vehicles and a hot spot for nudists.

Corralejo beach: it has crystalline water and fine sand and is also a very popular spot for tourists for this matter. You will find a picturesque fishing village here and the beach is basically very attractive and one of the best within the archipelago. The village is very romantic and worth visiting while here. You can spice up your holiday by taking a boat excursions tour taking you to Lobos Island nearby.

Lobos Island: it is a lonely island that only has few fishermen. It is a wonderful place to spend a quiet holiday but it can get very lonely at some point hence the need to carefully consider this fact before making the decision.
