

Article Side

It is the Story of Last Month (December) 2009 by Tiffany Parker

Article published on April 23rd 2012 | Article Writing

It is the story of last month (December) 2009. I and my friend were returning from the party. It was midnight and we were drunk also. Jessica was driving a car and I was looking into the GPS (Global positioning System) and telling her to move right or left. I was teasing her; suddenly she shouted and stopped car. I shouted at her, "Are you in your senses?" Jessica replied, "I saw an ice wall over here that is why I pushed brakes." I again asked to her, "Are you freaky mad, if you have seen an ice wall, then where that wall is right now?" Jessica started crying and then she said, "why would I lie to you, I promise that I have seen an ice wall." Then we both got into the car and I sat on driving seat. We both were silently moving forward, suddenly we saw one lady, she was asking for the lift. As we were afraid so we ignored her and we kept on moving forward.

Soon, we reached home. Jessica was not feeling well so I suggested to her that for today's night it would be better for her to stay with me at my home. I asked her to sleep on my bed and I was sleeping on the floor beside her. After one hour she screamed and woke up. I took her to the physician immediately. Doctor suggested her to give rest only under the presence of any one. Next morning, we both had to go to University, but we did not go. I was with Jessica in the hospital. My university's friend called me and said that professor has given all of us an assignment, which has to be done by today and this assignment, will be done individually.

I thanked to my friend and disconnected the phone. I was thinking that what I should do right now. It was not the right time to tell Jessica about the assignment. Doctor called me in his room and said that whatever Jessica had seen there, was true. I shocked to hear the words of Doctor. Doctor held my hands and said that, "the way which you chose was haunted way. You people should not come from that way, and now you would not talk anything about this matter from Jessica." I thanked to the Doctor and told him about new problem of submission of assignment. Doctor suggested me to buy essays online. I again thanked to my Doctor, I immediately type write an essay for me on the internet, there were lots of websites which were providing essay writing help. I submitted my and Jessica's assignment to Professor.

After one week when Jessica was completely feeling normal, I told Jessica about haunted way and submission of assignments. She was really thanked me and hugged me with love. And she said that, "I will never forget this act of kindness of yours in life." I said that friends are made to help and trust.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/article-writing-articles/it-is-the-story-of-last-month-december-2009.htm> - Article Side

Tiffany Parker - About Author:

If you want to a buy essays online so you can contact us. We can provide you a essay writing help online, Order us to a write an essay for me.

Article Keywords:

buy essays online, essay writing help, write an essay for me

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!