There are not many cities in the world which play host to such a versatile number of attractions as does Edinburgh. The capital city of Scotland has everything ranging from historical castles to world class museums,from famous art galleries to an array of fun-packed festivals, from mesmerizing landscapes to welcoming citizens, and above all the moderate weather which helps Edinburgh to live up to its fame of being considered as touristsâ€™ heaven irrespective of the season. There are many sites worth seeing in the city but no visit to Edinburgh can be complete without a trip to the top of Arthurâ€™s Seat in Holy rood Park.

Edinburgh hotels are second only to London in the United Kingdom in terms of value and availability. There is also a wide range of Castle Apartments Edinburgh, which are highly economical and comfortable at the same time.

Arthurâ€™s Seat is the name given to the peak of an extinct volcano among a group of four hills situated behind the palace of Holy rood House. The peak can be seen from almost every part of the city and rises to a height of 251 meters with a circumference of about 5 Kilometers in the Holy rood park area. For those interested in history, remains of a fort covering about 20 acres of area can also be seen on peak of Arthur's Seat.Archaeologists suggest that that the fort belonged to pre-Roman times and dates back to approximately 2000 years.

There are different routes accessible from many directions, which lead to Arthurâ€™s Seat and it can take about 2 hours to reach there on foot from the palace. The walk to the top of Arthurâ€™s Seat is easy and reveals the spectacular panoramic views of Edinburgh with every step taken. The picturesque views from the top of the hill are breath-taking; one can see all of Edinburgh and most parts of East Lothian and Midlothian. It is recommended to visit Arthurâ€™s Seat on a calm sunny day, because it gets windy on the top and there are some steep part son the way up. It is a great place for a family day out however clothes and shoes should be selected keeping in mind the walk on the hills.
