New Article Directory Review - Article Cardinal by John Jay

Article published on December 5th 2011 | Article Writing

Hi today we will review a new article directory Article Cardinal. Like most article directories, Article Cardinal is free to join and publish articles.

Article Cardinal has many neat features designed to help authors create great articles. You can submit articles in over 150 categories. The categories are search engine optimized (the approvals are done by the Article Cardinal team, not software). The articles must be at least 350 words, making for higher search engine rankings. There is a validation process to prevent automated article submissions. A writer can choose more than 1 author. Article Cardinal also has unique features to help with article search engine ranking: the author is able to choose the page title for the article (not just the article title) and can choose what appears in the browser's title bar; the author can also choose the page name for the url for SEO as well; and meta description is also an option. You also have the ability to save draft articles.

You can choose favorite articles as well as search. Or you can pick random articles if you are not sure what you are looking for. RSS feeds are available for individual categories as well as for the latest articles. Another unique feature is that visitors and readers can offer comments on the articles. An author can choose whether or not to show his or her contact information with their articles. Also readers can rate articles on a 1-10 scale.

Article writing certainly is alot of fun. And most of the time it is free. It's a great way to express yourself, boost sales and profits, establish a name or brand, build a web presence, promote affiliate programs, improve your page rank, etc. All of us want a directory that best promotes our professionally written and much labored over articles. Article Cardinal is a great choice for your article publishing.

And I might add right now is a great time to publish your articles...the site is growing fast and your article will receive lots of visitors.

Well that's it for the review. Visit ArticleCardinal.com for all your publishing needs.

Have a great day!
