People born between 21st November and 22nd December are Sagittarians and they are symbolized by an archer, they are ruled by the Jupiter. They are full of life and crave on adventure. They have an optimistic outlook on life and enjoy trying out new things and experimenting. The love to travel and explore because they are always open to new thoughts and explorations, they hate to stay at a place for a long time. They are honorable, trustworthy and have a love for justice. They fight for what they think is fair and are even prepared to be rebellious if the situation calls for it. They strike an excellent balance between loyalty and independence.

On the other side, they are overly optimistic. Even when they fall, optimism is something that never leaves them. They tend to take a lot of gambles in life which at times leads to a pit fall. They are careless about their actions and have a very happy-go-lucky attitude which at times annoys people around them. They are extremely out-going and enthusiastic, because of this they step out of the line many a times. They can be impractical at times with their thoughts and opinions. They often aim higher, but lack the organization and realities to make those dreams come true.

Sagittarius children are enthusiastic and full of spirit. They love adventure and hence they keep exploring their environment to find new things. They love to play and have fun and are rarely serious and reserved. Donâ€™t try to restrict a Sagittarius baby to a place or confine them in to a room, they love free place and enjoy roaming around. They are not shy and often talk out what is on their minds frankly and at times bluntly. Though they are out-going, they also have a quick temper which cools off almost immediately and without any grudge or lingering resentment. With their eagerness to learn new things, school is yet another platform for them to explore. So, they tend to be popular and make friends easily. They can be good at languages and can pick up a language very quickly. They enjoy playing rather than working and try to escape work by sweet talking.

A Sagittarian avoids boring and repetitive work. He craves for something exciting and adventurous. He does not like to be restricted into a cabin. He loves to work in an environment where he gets to call the shots. They have a glib tongue which can make them natural salesmen. Any job related to travel and adventure naturally inclines them to those fields. Law and politics are also appealing fields for them as does social administration, advertising and PR which goes hand in hand with their personality. They can be impatient with completing tasks driving their colleagues at a pace which cannot be kept by them. They can be domineering and inconsiderate with their colleagues at times.

In relationships, they can be very reliable and the strength of the relationship. When they find true love, they can be the most loving spouse and indulgent parent. But they might let work rule their lives at the expense of their loved ones. They need to feel free and not smothered by their partner. There are few Sagittarians who become play boys because of their restlessness and not wanting to stay with the same person for a long time but they are straight forward with their relationships. They donâ€™t get easily jealous and are not extremely possessive about their partners; they give a lot breathing space for their partners and expect the same from them. Aries and Leo make excellent partners for Sagittarius. There are a lot of programs on Dish TV and internet that give a lot of interesting information on all sun signs.
