Librans are those born between September 23rd and October 22nd and they are represented by scales. Scales is the only inanimate representation in all the zodiac signs, all the other signs are either represented by animals or humans. The Libra period is considered the high point of all seasons, as this is the time when people used to sit back and relax the end of summer season and the results of their hard work. People born during this time are the most civil and courteous of all signs. They are naturally elegant, soft, well-spoken and gentle. They are naturally charming and have a good taste in choosing things. They love the beauty of things and enjoy social life and revel in the joy that these things bring. Like a scale, everything should be balance for a Libran.

They are level headed and can judge things using logic and reasoning instead of emotions. They can stand back and look at a scenario instead of being partial. In short, they can be diplomatic and even tempered. They have the knack to sense the needs of others and stand by those who need them on an emotional level. They usually donâ€™t like the darker side of life â€“ cruelty, viciousness and hate fights between people. Due to this, they try adjusting in any environment and try to compromise so as to avoid any fights or confrontations. The major set-backs with the Librans is that, once they decide or conclude something, they donâ€™t like when arguments are presented after that. They cannot take in criticism and always years for approval from others.

With work, Librans donâ€™t like to get their hand dirty. Though a few are content with what they have, there are a few who are overly ambitious. With their level-headed characteristics, Librans make great diplomats but make poor politicians as they donâ€™t send across their opinion strongly and they are also fair to others points of view. They can also succeed as administrators, bankers they are trustworthy, and sometimes lawyers and they can be good with any artistically inclined fields. Librans can be philanthropists with their tendency to always wanting to help others.

As a child, Librans are sweet and have a captivating smile always and can captivate anyone around him. Unlike a few children who are so unpredictable and require a Home Security like the ADT Home Security, a Libran child is calm and almost never screams or fusses at the top of his voice. A Libran baby can rarely make a decision, so giving him a choice is out of question. If given one, it is hard for a Libran child to come to a conclusion. He will take a lot of time to make up his mind, which may at times appear to be stubbornness. Being harsh will not help things as he will get more confused. Give him solutions and teach him things in a pleasant way. A Libran child is gentle, calm and composed. They have a smile for everyone and have the tendency to argue to get their point across. They can take both sides of the argument and win. He asks a lot of questions and the only way to convince him is with fair points. He takes the side of a person who he thinks is fair.

Aquarius and Gemini are the best compatibility signs for Libra. With their sense of fairness, they show understanding to their partnerâ€™s points of view. They resolve tiffs by compromising with their partners instead of letting it spoil their relationship and they have a successful marriage because of this. They have a lot of tolerance due to which they rarely complain about their partners.
