5 Fun Trivia about Edmonton Ford Cars by Junior Perrera

Article published on June 14th 2012 | Auto

The Ford brand had its humble beginnings in a single manâ€™s vision to create quality cars within the reach of the masses. With its pioneering assembly line method of production, Ford Motor Company (FMC) moved on to create vehicles like the F-Series trucks, Ford Fusion and Ford Mustang, among others. Ford has since established itself as one of the top automakers in North America, as well as around the world.

The Eponymous Founder. Other than his contribution to the automobile industry, Henry Ford was also known for his pacifism during the First World War. He lent his name to an economic and social system on mass production known as â€œFordismâ€•. Ford received the posthumous honor of being in th â€œGallupâ€™s List of Widely Admired People of the 20th Centuryâ€• in 1999 based on a poll conducted America.

Stakes in Other Car Companies. Jaguar and Land Rover used to be FMCâ€™s subsidiaries before they were sold to Tata Motors of India in 2008. FMC has a small stake in Aston Martin of UK and Mazda of Japan. FMC also has Ford Motor Credit Company LLC, Ford Holdings LLC, and Automotive Components Holdings under its wing.

Ford Mustang. The Mustang first appeared on-screen as a white convertible in â€œGoldfingerâ€•. Celebrities like Jay Leno, Sonny Bono, and Cher have owned this car. Mustangs compete in races such as FIA GT3 European Championship, GT4 European Cup, and 24 Hours of Spa.

Awards. From 2007, the manufacturer of Edmonton Ford cars received more quality awards from J.D. Power and Associates than other automakers. FMC also received the 2011 Secretary of Defense Employer Support Freedom Award, or simply the Freedom Award which is given to employers who are deemed exceptionally supportive of their employees. In 2012, the company received the Earth Angel award for being the most Earth Friendly Automaker for that year. In the corporate social responsibility area, â€œTomorrowâ€™s Value: The Global Reportersâ€• rated FMC as an the top 25 CSR reporting companies in the world.

Miscellaneous. The Earth Angel award for the supplier of Edmonton Ford dealers is well-deserved. The company has produced flexible fuel vehicles, hybrid cars, and cars that use compressed natural gas, and others. The company sponsors several sports facilities and events around the U.S., such as the Ford Field in Detroit, Michigan and Chesapeake Energy Arena in Oklahoma City.

Considering its history, customers are assured that theyâ€™ll see more of FMCâ€™s innovations and milestones in Edmonton Ford dealerships in the years to come. For more trivia on Ford cars, read ehow.com/about_6397911_interesting-ford-car.html.
