What is Event Liability Insurance, Why You Need It, and How it Saves Money! by Michel Jordan

Article published on March 9th 2012 | Insurance

Did you know that Special Event Liability Insurance Provides you and your Ensemble with Protection for Law Suits Brought by an Injured Person Â and/or Property Damage Arising out of a Performance You Participated in!

If someone falls and gets hurt, or damage are done by you to someone elseâ€™s property during the set-up, performance and breakdown of a Performance.

Your Own Event Liability Policy can provide protection by assuming the risk of legal claims brought by an injured Person.Â We cover many types of events, such as, Concerts, Recitals, Fairs, Festivals, Consumer Shows, Fundraisers, Dances, Meetings, Conferences, Parties of any kind, Weddings, and much more.

What if the Venue Has its Own Insurance, are We Covered Under That Policy?

Even If the Venue you are Performing at has Insurance it Covers and Defends the Venue - Not Youâ€™re Ensemble!Â

The venue or their insurance carrier has no obligation to defend you or your ensemble.Â Who pays for your legal defense if you are brought into a lawsuit?Â You would have to pay for that on your own if you are uninsured. Â Â Did you know that even when and if you are cleared of all wrongdoing you could still be out Thousands of Dollars in Legal Fees!!!Â Even if you win you lose! Â Â The cost to hire a lawyer to defend you starts at approximately $250.00 per hour and up.Â Â

The solution to this problem is Event Liability Insurance.Â It is an inexpensive way to protect yourself and your ensemble from potential losses arising from negligent acts you may,Â or may not have committed.

Please contact us, we make it easy & convenient for you to get an event policy customized to you at a price you can afford.Â When you think about it, Can you afford to be without it?
