Buying used car has its advantages and some of them are lower taxes, price lower than the average brand new car and of course other insurance costs.

Used car has the possibility of damage since it has been used and that is a disadvantage. Warranty to buyers is not being given by some used car sellers, so be careful about that.

Buying used cars is still cheaper and practical in spite of the odds. In order to save time, you need to calculate how much is your budget before selecting your car so you will know exactly what you can afford.

Buckingham Drive Autos can give you wide variety of quality used cars. Used car purchasing requires numerous risks. So as to keep safe, these guidelines should be followed. Inspect the car before buying. Purchasing a used car can be a daunting experience because you need to consider so many things before finally buying it.

If you are a first time used car buyer especially. Physical check-up should be given to the car before making your final decision and prior to buying it. The car should be on the ground and you have to make sure of this when doing the physical examination.

Because of this, it will be easier for you to check if nothing is sagging and the tires are evenly aligned. Check also the paint job. Check for rust, dents and any roughness. The inside of the car should be checked. The trunk should be checked to find out if it is still in good running condition.

The trunk should not have signs of cracks as this can be the cause of water entry. If it has indications of rust and dents and the hood is damaged, it just goes to show that the car was taken cared of poorly. Belts should not be soft and hoses should not have any cracks.

Stains and rips are signs that the upholstery is damaged so you need to check the seats of the car. The air-conditioning of the car is another important thing. You need to have the assurance that it is working properly so you have to turn it on.

The age of the car is indicated in the mileage so the odometer should be checked. Buckingham Drive Autos knows how to verify the mileage and they can provide this information for you.

It is not the brightest of idea to purchase a 10 year old car. But, it still depends on how you want it. If the price is right and the machine is still in good condition, then go for it.

The car should be test-driven to exactly know its condition. It is a requirement however to test-drive the car before any purchase. Report of the Vehicle History is what every car has. You can ask the owner for a copy to find out some information of the activity of the vehicle like repair and other car service.

The car owner should have kept the record and he should be willing to show it to the buyer. The brakes of the car should be checked and is something you should not forget as you test drive the used car.

Try this by going 30 mph without traffic. The motor of the rotor needs resurfacing and new pads should be installed if there is any indication of squealing or pulsate and strange noise too.

Try to get under the car to check for exhaust system. If you do not know much about cars, you must consult a qualified mechanics. With Buckingham Drive Autos you can find qualified mechanics that will give you professional opinion.
