Birthstone Jewelry: Safe Gift Ideas for Your Mom by Cefin Araya

Article published on April 4th 2012 | Jewelry

When youâ€™re giving gifts, jewelry is usually the safest bet. Giving someone jewelry allows you to imply that you care for them so much youâ€™re willing to spend, and you can even make the gift more personal by customizing it to fit the recipientâ€™s personality. This is why most people prefer to give jewelry to their loved ones on special days.

Jewelry can be fashioned from a lot of things: gold or silver, among others. Some of the more popular types of jewelry, though, are those adorned with precious stones such as diamonds or colored gemstones. Most people prefer birthstone jewelry because it indicates a certain degree of personal attachment to whoeverâ€™s going to wear it. Birthstone jewelry is typically more cost-efficient too, compared to other jewelry adorned with precious stones.

The desire to wear birthstones dates back to ancient history. According to the Bible, birthstones represent the twelve tribes of Israel. Astrologers, on the other hand, believed that these stones influence the effect of the planets in peopleâ€™s lives. Today, some believe that wearing it gives the jewelry personal meaning, while others think that birthstones have medicinal effects on the wearer.

Whatever the reason, birthstone jewelry is one of the most popular gifts you can give to anyone, especially your mom. Mothers do a lot for their families, and showing them that you appreciate their endeavors and sacrifices is very important. Giving them a gift wouldnâ€™t amount to everything they have done for you in your life, but itâ€™s a start.

A birthstone bracelet for mom can be a good choice, and this can be customized by adding the birthstones of other family members of her children so it would seem more personal. There are a lot of styles you can choose from in stores all over the world. You can check store displays online so youâ€™d have a rough idea what might be suitable before placing an order.

However, donâ€™t forget to make sure of the storeâ€™s credibility and reputation. You do not want to get ripped off when youâ€™re buying a birthstone necklace for mom â€“ or any other gift, for that matter â€“ especially if youâ€™re making an online purchase.

Remember that it doesnâ€™t have to be expensive â€“ as the clichÃ© goes, itâ€™s the thought that count want to learn more about buying a birthstone necklace for mom, or more gift ideas, you can check out GoodHousekeeping.com or UncommonGoods.com for more information.
