How this Dallas Mesothelioma Attorney Helps Protect the Rights of Mesothelioma Victims by Jim Edward

Article published on May 23rd 2012 | Law

Baron and Budd, P.C. has represented clients for three decades. Most of the firmâ€™s clients are people from different backgrounds, businesses, communities and other entities from across the nation. Since the law firm has been in the business of legal representation for thirty years, it is one of the premier law firms in the nation. It has been included on the Hot List of the National Law Journal from 2002 to 2006. For several years, The Legal 500 has named Baron and Budd, P.C. as one of the countryâ€™s top law firms. Many of the firmâ€™s lawyers have received several awards and recognition from different legal associations and organizations.

More than the national recognition and awards, Baron and Budd, P.C. helps victims in many ways that are not limited to legal representation. For example, the firmâ€™s president Russell Budd negotiated successfully for a $4 billion trust fund for future asbestos victims in the country. This is the largest trust fund for victims of asbestos across the nation. Led by Russell Budd, the firm is also involved in activities that are aimed to help the victims of asbestos exposure, such as charitable activities and research. Under the direction of Russell Budd, the firm has donated millions of dollars to the International Pleural Mesothelioma Program at Birmingham and Womenâ€™s Hospital, an affiliate of Harvard Medical School. Their research is aimed at finding curative therapy for mesothelioma. Aside from this, with Russell Buddâ€™s objective of helping people who have been exposed to asbestos and other contaminants, the law firm has supported many advocacy groups. These groups include the Asbestos Disease Awareness Organization and the Lung Cancer Alliance. Personally, Mr. Budd is involved in several important causes; such as Habitat for Humanity and Dallasâ€™ Building of Faith Project.

In addition to the support offered to people exposed to asbestos and other contaminants, as well as their participation in community projects, this law firm provides resources for anyone who needs help or information. They offer information about mesothelioma and other diseases caused by exposure to asbestos and other contaminants. They are willing to do all it takes to help people who have been wrongfully afflicted with asbestos related diseases.
