Something New for the Newest Mitsubishi Lancer by Hiteshbhoi

Article published on December 6th 2011 | Auto

Many car aficionados and followers may love cars and vehicles that were the very first in its batch. Classic car lovers would give an arm and a limb to own such vehicles. However, there is still quite a huge share of car lovers who would opt to purchase the most recent and the most high technology vehicles in the market.

As per the Mitsubishi Lancer, despite the fact that it has been in the market for ages already, it is still one of the most sought after vehicles. And its mother company has made sure that they restyle and refresh this vehicle. Mitsubishi makes sure that each time that they send a new model of the Mitsubishi Lancer to the streets and roads, it would be bringing with it something new and something high technology. This is most certainly why you would find quite a variety of Mitsubishi OEM parts in the market.

Mitsubishi has revealed that they are set on creating another updated model of the Mitsubishi Lancer. They claim that when it is on the streets and roads, the new vehicle would be all new. And, yes, it would now be boasting of a prowess that is very much like the Mitsubishi Lancer Evolution model which can speed up to high digits.

During the 61st Frankfurt International Motor show, Mitsubishi brought the curtains down and unveiled the concept vehicle that would soon become the production car known as the all new Mitsubishi Lancer. Auto lovers have found the new one to be aggressive looking and it seems to be destined to attract younger drivers and would-be buyers. Of course, those who simply adore sports cars might also take a liking to the new Lancer.

1973 was the year when production for the Mitsubishi Lancer started. It was sent out as a compact vehicle with only one body style which was the sedan that held four doors.
