Living in New York city could be Your Dream come True by Gerald B. Reiter

Article published on December 22nd 2011 | Marketing

We all know that travelling to other places is supposed to help to expand our mind, but, if the only travelling that you seem to do is the same daily commute from your home to your work, and then back again at the end of the day, then you may well find that this sort of travel actually makes your mind a bit numb instead.

So, just how long do you spend commuting each week? Do you spend just a few hours? Or, do you spend more time travelling than you get to see your family during a normal week? How nice would it be to leave the office, and be back at home again within a matter of minutes, rather than the hours that you're currently spending? You could see more of your family during the week, and, you could even get to see a few of those friends who always seem to be doing other things over the weekend. But it's all just a very pleasant dream, right?

Well, actually no, it isn't just a dream, it's a dream that you really could see becoming a reality for you and your family; how good would that be?

Some people aren't as open to living in the heart of a major city as many others are. Some of the reasons that they give (quite validly at times, too) are that they have to give up all of the outdoor life if they're in the middle of a city like New York. That, however, isn't actually true - not if you have Central Park on your doorstep. In fact, even if you weren't as close to Central Park as you would be by moving to the Clinton apartments, there are still a number of very nice little parks and squares that you could be just a few minutes away from.

But what if you don't want to take a short stroll to one of these parks after you get back home? Well, with the stunning courtyard that you'll have in the centre of the building, you won't have to worry about getting a bit of time in the 'outdoors', even if you don't want to walk to another grassy, tree filled relaxation spot.

Of course, once you've been into one of these Columbus circle apartments you may not be too worried about venturing back outside again, not for a while, anyway.

Heading into a little New York city oasis would be enough to stop anyone thinking about what's going on around them outside, but you can still see life going on in the streets below - if you really can't think of anything better to do while sitting on your large and private terrace, or chilling out on that rooftop cabana that you never thought you'd be able to have in a city like New York. You could almost be forgiven for thinking that you were still in some nice relaxed dream world.

As tempting as it may seem, at the moment, just to stay inside, there would be other reasons why you might decide to tear yourself away from such luxury, but good restaurants and bars have a habit of doing that to people; and you'll have some of the best in the world just a few moments away from where you'll soon be living. Then again, food and drink isn't the only reason why you might choose to leave your new home, you might find that you're ready for a bit of entertainment, and where better to get it than in Broadway? You are still dreaming, right?

No, these Columbus circle apartments are real, but let's just have a look at some of the things that will have you pinching yourself when you realize that you really could own one.

Not only could you watch the world going by while sitting on your terrace or cabana, you can also do it while you're just sitting inside, sipping on a late night coffee, and looking out over the New York landscape through the large skyline windows. Actually, it may take you some time to be able to do that, because you'll be spending so much time in the fully equipped kitchen - with Poggenpohl cabinetry - that your coffee gets cold before you manage to get to the windows to lazily stare out of them.

What if that isn't quite your style when it comes to getting a bit of stress relief? Not a problem, these Clinton apartments have a fitness center that will knock all of those worries out of you - not that travel will be one of them now. Even if you do like to 'energetically relax' you're still going to appreciate the soothing qualities of having your own Kohler bath tub; it may even become your own little sanctuary.

If you've finally decided that you just don't get enough time with your family, and you have to move to make it happen, then it's always good to know that you can get the best of both worlds. You can cut your travel; spend more time with the family; increase your food, drink, and entertainment options; all without having to sacrifice all of the outdoor space that you may be used to.

Of course, other people are starting to realize that they can do all of this, too; so now's the time to check out http://www.griffincourtcondo.com/, while this option is still open to you; but it may not be for much longer.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/marketing-articles/living-in-new-york-city-could-be-your-dream-come-true.htm - Article Side

Gerald B. Reiter - About Author:

Gerald B. Reiter
http://www.griffincourtcondo.com/
a Clinton apartments
a Columbus circle apartments

Article Keywords:
Clinton apartments,Columbus circle apartments

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!