Article published on January 9th 2012 | Marketing

-RG Technical Services is a leading retailer of integrated video, security and communication technologies that keep your premises safe and secure against any unwanted intrusion.

Based in Scotland, and with a client portfolio that stretches throughout the UK and aboard, RG Technical Services has a rich history of twenty yearsâ€™ experience providing leading home automation UK products which integrate seamlessly into any environment. From GPS or video surveillance to Smart building technologies and RFiD tracking our home automation, and additional surveillance products, are as effective as they necessary.

The home automation UK services that we sell ensure that you have complete control of the security of your property. With our range of home automation UK products you can choose the security reinforcement that is most appropriate for your premises. The Paxton access control panels are a key component of our home automation UK products. As a modern security solution these home automation UK panels provide the optimum in security measures. Unlike traditional keys which can be easily misplaced, resulting in a heightened security threat, these access control panels are the optimum solution for contemporary security measures.

When these home automation UK systems are installed all the doors in the property will automatically lock when the system is activated. Without the correct PIN code entry is prohibited. However, these access control home automation UK systems are similarly flexible, they can be easily programmed to unlock at a designated time and if you wish you can programme these UK systems to provide access to specific areas of the property whist other areas remain secure.

Should you wish to find out more information on just how we can make your property safe and secure, as well as all the other security measures that we offer then come and visit us online at: www.rgtech.co.uk
