Motorola defy is the perfect smartphone by Wenddymadden

Article published on January 16th 2012 | Mobile Phones

The jagged smartphone DEFY is being promotes as the absolute smartphone way out for those who are social savvy. Not just that, there is also an advantage of dustproof, splash-resistant scratch resistant. It is being known as the life proof phone by Motorola. You can call it a rare breed in the smart phones. Itâ€™s not just the smartphone, it can even withstand every day abuse thrown by life at it, and the best part is it carries out everything in the stylish manner.

Looking at it in the picture it seems as the smartphone equivalent to the Panasonic Tough-book laptop, but it like a normal smartphone. It is small, even the Nokia N8 is bigger in comparison to this. In terms of the designing the phone looks pretty cute. Being packed in the striking box the phone accompanies large 1540mAh battery, 2GB microSDHC card, microUSB cable, USB, headphones and also the wall charger. Being the rugged phone, it is exceptionally light with the weight and even smaller in the size. Capacitive touchscreen is tremendously sharp. With the 3.7 inch LCD in addition to the resolution of 480Ã—854, the phone is covered with the Gorilla Glass making sure that it is scratch proof. It even supports Multi touch with perfect Colour version and not oversaturated as usually located over OLED screen.

Just beneath the screen, there will be touch-sensitive four capacitive soft buttons. At the phone top, there is tiny power button with the audio jack of 3.5mm. At the right side, there is a volume rocker and on left is the microUSB port. The huge 1540mAh battery is located behind the cover of the battery. SIM card slots and microSDHC are located below battery. The camera of about 5 megapixel in addition to the video recording at VGA 30fps & LED flash is positioned on the top at the back side. Quite surprisingly, the Motorola is water resistant. Not just the battery door is sealed, headphone jack and microUSB port are enclosed with the defensive flaps. What is more surprising is the small and light DEFY. Being around 13.4mm thick, the light weight Motorola is being made using the plastic. Though it is small, there is an advantage of bigger with the removable battery. And very pleasingly the Motorola mobile price is always noted to be low.

Motorola defy reviews says that being supported with the The DEFY is powered by Android 2.1; the Motorola has got its own ritual home screen MOTOBLUR. Home screen essentially appear and feels normal. MOTOBLUR amalgamation is available in the form of widgets. Several widgets to make a choice from are Social and Status, Music Player, Weather, RSS, Contacts etc. Though the widgets can be reshaped, the rectangular shape makes them unappealing. Motorola defy price are reasonable in comparison to the other mobile price in India.
