With the birth of a baby many new things and preparations come in the life of parents to- be. Among all the preparations, selecting the baby crib is at the top of all the priorities. Unlike earlier, selecting a crib set has become a challenging and tedious task as the patterns, colors, and styles of crib bedding are endless today. From classics to modern, budget to luxury, you can give whatever theme you want to your baby nursery sets. On one hand when all these facilities and handiness gives a wide space of selection, on the other it makes the mind obscure. However, this muddiness can get solved with a little bit of knowledge about the things that you should know before purchasing the baby bedding sets.

1. Ignore drop side cribs.

Drop- side cribs have been outlawed by the U.S consumer safety product commission due to a large number of infant deaths. May be it seems the most convenient one in handling and putting the babies inside the cribs but in case, if the drop side gets loosened or detached, the baby may get entangled and suffocated.

2. Check for the safety of your product.

Before you buy anything for your baby just halts that it must pertain to the certain safety standards that are specified for the babies. Check for the certification of the Juvenile Manufacturing Association that will help you know which product is suitable for kids. Some products get this certification as they ensure the comfort as well as the safety of your baby.

3. Buy crib that is nice and spacious.

As the crib is the most important part of the nursery bedding set, it becomes really important to make sure that the crib you are going to buy is nice and spacious; made using strong material. Pick fabric like cotton which is easy to wash and maintain. Babies are usually messy, so choosing the one which you can easily maintain will help you in saving your time for other things.

4. Select according to the theme of the nursery bedding sets.

If you have decided for a particular theme for your baby nursery dÃ©cor, its best that you go along with the similar crib bedding set. With the various options available itâ€™s pretty simple to get theme based baby bedding sets. While selecting the crib according to the theme pay attention that it is made using organic colors which is not injurious to your baby.
