Adopt a greener approach to travel riding an Electric bicycle by Julia Roger

Article published on December 27th 2011 | Biking

Worried about the effect you car is having is having on the planet? Find public transport unreliable, expensive and rather unpleasant if the truth be known? Why not take a leaner, greener approach to transport and hop onboard an Electric bicycle?

This could be your ideal transport solution because an Electric bicycle is the perfect mode of transport to use for a city commute. Right now, in the UK, there are a growing number of electric bikes trundling along cycle routes and you could join this throng of cycles on your eco-friendly Electric bicycle.

If you want to embrace a more environmentally friendly type of transport seat yourself in the saddle of an Electric bike and away you go!

What makes an Electric bicycle different?

Ride a normal bike and it can be pretty hard going when you hit a steep incline. An Electric bicycle provides you with as much assistance as you require, depending on the type of system that you choose. A pedal assisted Electric Bicycle does exactly what it says on the tin. You pedal along and a battery and a motor gently assist you along the way.

Other types of electric bikes use on-demand technology. In most cases this is activated by twisting a handle grip, just like a motorised scooter. Invest in an Electric bicycle that incorporates both types of systems and youâ€™ll have the best of both worlds.

Give me a few good reasons to buy an Electric bicycle

Okay, where do you want me to start? Firstly, youâ€™ll be doing your bit for the environment riding an Electric bicycle for short journeys. Itâ€™s a clean mode of transport thatâ€™ll help you to weave through rush-hour traffic so theyâ€™ll be no more being late for work.

One charge of the Electric bicycle will enable you to cover to distances of up 20 â€“ 30 miles and thatâ€™s more than enough for most office commutes.

An Electric bicycle is easy to ride, youâ€™ll have fun on electric bikes and theyâ€™ll improve your health a the same time.

There are plenty of good reasons to buy an Electric bicycle so why not become one of the many people that are taking to this green type of technology?
